THE AMERICAN'S CREED

BY

Clerk of the House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a Republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect Union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its Constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

The State Capitol at Albany represents an expenditure of approximately $25,000,000, including an item of $2,000,000 for repairs following the fire of 1911, which swept the western section of the building.

The present structure replaces the first Capitol, built in 1806, at a cost of $110,000, and which was located just east of the present building. The old Capitol was occupied until 1879, although as early as 1860 it became evident that it was too small to meet the needs, and an agitation was started in that year which brought about the construction of the present Capitol.

The New York State Legislature has met in Albany since 1797, first at what was known as the "Stadt Huis," then in the old Capitol, and since 1879 in the present structure.

Ground was broken for the present Capitol on December 9, 1867, but delays followed, and the cornerstone was not laid until June 24, 1871.

The Declaration of Independence is generally regarded as one of the most famous documents in the history of the world. On June 18, 1776, the Continental Congress appointed a committee, consisting of Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, Roger Sherman and Robert R. Livingston to draft a Declaration of Independence.

Jefferson wrote out a rough draft of the Declaration, which was carefully revised by the committee and presented to Congress for adoption. After some further slight revisions by that body, it was adopted on July 4, 1776, at Philadelphia.

The parchment with the original signatures was deposited with the Department of State when the government was organized in 1789.

The original Declaration of Independence is now on public exhibition in the Library of Congress at Washington, D. C. It was transferred from the Department of State by direction of the late President Warren G. Harding.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

MADE BY THE ORIGINAL THIRTEEN STATES IN CONGRESS AT PHILADELPHIA

UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED JULY 4, 1776.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed, by their Creator, with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate, that governments long established, should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature, a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected, whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offenses:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy, scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do in the name, and by authority of the good people of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies, are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connexion between them and the State of Great Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as free and independent States, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent States may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honour.

The oldest signer when the signatures were affixed was Benjamin Franklin; the next oldest was Stephen Hopkins.

The first of the signers to die was John Morton; the second was Button Gwinnett.

The earliest known attempt in the American colonies of a declaration of independence was at a town meeting at Mendon, Worcester county, Mass., in 1773.

There was also the Mecklenburg, N. C., declaration for independence, May 31, 1775.

The United States Constitution is the oldest federal constitution in existence. It was so well framed that is has served as the basis for this government for nearly a century and a half. Only once has it been seriously endangered, this being during the Civil War. Many of its principles have been adopted by other countries.

The Constitution was the outgrowth of a convention of delegates from the different states that met in Philadelphia in May, 1787, Rhode Island not being represented. George Washington presided over the convention, which lasted from May to September.

The Constitution was then submitted to the then existing states for ratification, with a provision that it should become effective when ratified by nine states. New Hampshire was the ninth state to ratify, June 21, 1788, and the Constitution went into effect in 1789.

The states ratified the Constitution in the following order: Delaware, Dec. 7; Pennsylvania, Dec. 12, and New Jersey, Dec. 18, 1787; Georgia, Jan. 2; Connecticut, Jan. 9; Massachusetts, Feb. 6; Maryland, Apr. 28; South Carolina, May 23; New Hampshire, June 21; Virginia, June 25, and New York, July 26, 1788; North Carolina, Nov. 21, 1789, and Rhode Island, May 29, 1790.

STATE OF NEW YORK
EXECUTIVE PRIVY SEAL
EXCELSIOR

The first constitutional convention in New York state was held in White Plains in July, 1776, its work being completed at Kingston the following April. The first New York State Constitution was adopted on April 20, 1777, without submission to the people.

While there have been several revisions and many changes and amendments, in its outward form, the main structure has not been much altered.

The first Constitution continued in force without any change until 1801, when five amendments were added, four relating to the reorganization of the Legislature and one to the powers of the Council of Appointment.

Since 1777, there have been six constitutional conventions in New York state, these occurring in 1801, 1821, 1846, 1867, 1894 and 1915.

THE CONSTITUTION

OF THE

STATE OF NEW YORK

As Proposed by the Constitutional Convention September 29, 1894, at Albany, N. Y., and Adopted by the People of the State November 6, 1894; and as Amended and in Force January 1, 1927.

[The Origin of the State Government was April 20, 1777, becoming New York State's birthday.]

without discrimination or preference, shall forever be allowed in this State to all mankind; and no person shall be rendered incompetent to be a witness on account of his opinions on matters of religious belief; but the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness, or justify practices inconsistent with the peace or safety of this State.

Habeas corpus.— § 4. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require its suspension.

Excessive bail and fines.—§ 5. Excessive bail shall not be required nor excessive fines imposed, nor shall cruel and unusual punishments be inflicted, nor shall witnesses be unreasonably detained.

Grand jury — bill of rights.— § 6. No person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime (except in cases of impeachment, and in cases of militia when in actual service, and the land and naval forces in time of war, or which this State may keep with the consent of Congress in time of peace, and in cases of petit larceny, under the regulation of the Legislature), unless on presentment or indictment of a grand jury, and in any trial in any court whatever the party accused shall be allowed to appear and defend in person and with counsel as in civil actions. No person shall be subject to be twice put in jeopardy for the same offense; nor shall he be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

Private roads may be opened in the manner to be prescribed by law; but in every case the necessity of the road and the amount of all damage to be sustained by the opening thereof shall be first determined by a jury of freeholders, and such amount, together with the expenses of the proceeding, shall be paid by the person to be benefited. The use of property for the drainage of swamp or agricultural lands is declared to be a public use, and general laws may be passed permitting the owners or occupants of swamp or agricultural lands to construct and maintain for the drainage thereof, necessary drains, ditches and dykes upon the lands of others, under proper restrictions on making just compensation, and such compensation together with the cost of such drainage may be assessed, wholly, or partly, against any property benefited thereby; but no special laws shall be enacted for such purposes.

The Legislature may authorize cities to take more land and property than is needed for actual construction in the laying out, widening, extending or relocating parks, public places, highways or streets; provided, however, that the additional land and property so authorized to be taken shall be no more than sufficient to form suitable building sites abutting on such park, public place, highway or street. Enumerations and reapportionments.— § 4. An enumeration of the inhabitants of the State shall be taken under the direction of the Secretary of State, during the months of May and June, in the year one thousand nine hundred and five, and in the same months every tenth year thereafter; and the said districts shall be so altered by the Legislature at the first regular session after the return of every enumeration, that each senate district shall contain as nearly as may be an equal number of inhabitants, excluding aliens, and be in as compact form as practicable, and shall remain unaltered until the return of another enumeration, and shall at all times, consist of contiguous territory, and no county shall be divided in the formation of a senate district except to make two or more senate districts wholly in such county. No town, and no block in a city inclosed by streets or public ways, shall be divided in the formation of senate districts; nor shall any district contain a greater excess in population over an adjoining district in the same county, than the population of a town or block therein adjoining such district. No county shall have more than one-third of all the senators; and no two counties or the territory thereof as now organized, which are adjoining counties, or which are separated only by public waters, shall have more than one-half of all the senators.

The ratio for apportioning senators shall always be obtained by dividing the number of inhabitants, excluding aliens, by fifty, and the senate shall always be composed of fifty members, except that if any county having three or more senators at the time of any apportionment shall be entitled on such ratio to an additional senator or senators, such additional senator or senators shall be given to such county in addition to the fifty senators, and the whole number of senators shall be increased to that extent.

Every county heretofore established and separately organized, except the county of Hamilton, shall always be entitled to one member of Assembly, and no county shall hereafter be erected unless its population shall entitle it to a member. The county of Hamilton shall elect with the county of Fulton, until the population of the county of Hamilton shall, according to the ratio, entitle it to a member. But the Legislature may abolish the said county of Hamilton and annex the territory thereof to some other county or counties.

The quotient obtained by dividing the whole number of inhabitants of the State, excluding aliens, by the number of members of Assembly, shall be the ratio for apportionment, which shall be made as follows: One member of Assembly shall be apportioned to every county, including Fulton and Hamilton as one county, containing less than the ratio and one-half over. Two members shall be apportioned to every other county. The remaining members of Assembly shall be apportioned to the counties having more than two ratios according to the number of inhabitants, excluding aliens. Members apportioned on remainders shall be apportioned to the counties having the highest remainders in the order thereof respectively. according to the last preceding enumeration; and such apportionment and districts shall remain unaltered until another enumeration shall be made, as herein provided; but said division of the city of Brooklyn and the county of Kings to be made on the second Tuesday of June, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five, shall be made by the common council of the said city and the board of supervisors of said county, assembled in joint session. In counties having more than one senate district, the same number of assembly districts shall be put in each senate district, unless the assembly districts cannot be evenly divided among the senate districts of any county, in which case one more assembly district shall be put in the senate district in such county having the largest, or one less assembly district shall be put in the senate district in such county having the smallest number of inhabitants, excluding aliens, as the case may require. No town, and no block in a city inclosed by streets or public ways, shall be divided in the formation of assembly districts, nor shall any districts contain a greater excess in population over an adjoining district in the same senate district, than the population of a town or block therein adjoining such assembly district. Towns or blocks which, from their location may be included in either of two districts, shall be so placed as to make said districts most nearly equal in number of inhabitants, excluding aliens; but in the division of cities under the first apportionment, regard shall be had to the number of inhabitants, excluding aliens, of the election districts according to the state enumeration of one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two, so far as may be, instead of blocks. Nothing in this section shall prevent the division, at any time, of counties and towns, and the erection of new towns by the Legislature.

An apportionment by the Legislature, or other body, shall be subject to review by the Supreme Court, at the suit of any citizen, under such reasonable regulations as the Legislature may prescribe; and any court before which a cause may be pending involving an apportionment, shall give precedence thereto over all other causes and proceedings, and if said court be not in session it shall convene promptly for the disposition of the same.

Any such form of government may include the transfer to the county or to county officers of any functions now exercised by towns or town officers. The law providing for such form of government shall also prescribe the manner in which the county affected may subsequently abandon it, and revert to its former form of government. The adoption of such form of government by the county shall not preclude the legislature from amending or modifying such plan. If under such form of government the board of supervisors be abolished, the powers and duties of the board of supervisors, as prescribed by the constitution, or by statute if not provided for by such form of government, shall devolve upon the governing elective body in such county. This section shall not be construed to prevent the Legislature from providing that convicts may work for, and that the products of their labor may be disposed of to, the State or any political division thereof, or for or to any public institution owned or managed and controlled by the State, or any political division thereof.

ARTICLE IV.

Executive power.— § 1. The executive power shall be vested in a Governor, who shall hold his office for two years; a Lieutenant-Governor shall be chosen at the same time, and for the same term. In case of the impeachment of the Governor, or his removal from office, death, inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, resignation, or absence from the State, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the Lieutenant-Governor for the residue of the term, or until the disability shall cease. But when the Governor shall, with the consent of the Legislature, be out of the State, in time of war, at the head of a military force thereof, he shall continue Commander-in-Chief of all the military force of the State.

Qualifications and duties of Lieutenant-Governor; succession to the governorship. — § 7. The Lieutenant-Governor shall possess the same qualifications of eligibility for office as the Governor. He shall be President of the Senate, but shall have only a casting vote therein. If during a vacancy of the office of Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor shall be impeached, displaced, resign, die, or become incapable of performing the duties of his office, or be absent from the State, the President of the Senate shall act as Governor until the vacancy be filled or the disability shall cease; and if the President of the Senate for any of the above causes shall become incapable of performing the duties pertaining to the office of Governor, the Speaker of the Assembly shall act as Governor until the vacancy be filled or the disability shall cease.

Salary of Lieutenant-Governor.— § 8. Every bill which shall have passed the Senate and Assembly shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the Governor; if he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it with his objections to the house in which it shall have originated, which shall enter the objections at large on the journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members elected to that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by two-thirds of the members elected to that house, it shall become a law notwithstanding the objections of the Governor. In all such cases the votes in both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the Governor within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not become a law without the approval of the Governor. No bill shall become a law after the final adjournment of the Legislature, unless approved by the Governor within thirty days after such adjournment. If any bill presented to the Governor contain several items of appropriation of money, he may object to one or more of such items while approving of the other portion of the bill. In such case he shall append to the bill, at the time of signing it, a statement of the items to which he objects; and the appropriation so objected to shall not take effect. If the Legislature be in session, he shall transmit to the house in which the bill originated a copy of such statement, and the items objected to shall be separately reconsidered. If on reconsideration one or more of such items be approved by two-thirds of the members elected to each house, the same shall be part of the law, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor. Subject to the limitations contained in this Constitution, the Legislature may from time to time assign by law new powers and functions to departments, officers, boards or commissions continued or created under this Constitution, and increase, modify or diminish their powers and functions. No specific grant of power herein to a department shall prevent the Legislature from conferring additional powers upon such department. No new departments shall be created hereafter, but this shall not prevent the Legislature from creating temporary commissions for special purposes and nothing contained in this article shall prevent the Legislature from reducing the number of departments as provided for in this article, by consolidation or otherwise. The elective State Officers in office at the time this article as amended takes effect shall continue in office until the end of the terms for which they were elected. Pending the assignment of the civil, administrative and executive functions by the Legislature pursuant to the directions of this section, the powers and duties of the several departments, boards, commissions and officers now existing are continued. Subject to the power of the Legislature to reduce the number of officers, when the powers and duties of any existing office are assigned to any department, the officers exercising such powers shall continue in office in such department, and their term of office shall not be shortened by such assignment.

The Supreme Court shall consist of the justices now in office, and their successors, together with such additional justices as may be authorized by law. The successors of said justices shall be chosen by the electors of their respective judicial districts. The Legislature may alter the judicial districts once after every Federal census or State enumeration, each district being bounded by county lines, and thereupon re-apportion the justices to be thereafter elected in the districts so altered.

The Legislature may from time to time increase the number of justices in any judicial district, except the number of justices in any district shall not be increased to exceed one justice for each sixty thousand, or fraction over thirty-five thousand, of the population thereof as shown by the last Federal census or State enumeration. Any justice of the Supreme Court, except as otherwise provided in this article, may perform the duties of his office or hold court in any county.

Judicial departments; Appellate Division.— § 2. The division of the State into four judicial departments is continued as now constituted by law. Once every ten years, the Legislature may alter the boundaries of the judicial departments, but without increasing the number thereof, and each department shall be bounded by the lines of judicial districts. The Appellate Divisions of the Supreme Court are continued, and shall consist of seven justices of the Supreme Court in each of the first and second departments, and five justices in each of the other departments. In each Appellate Division, four justices shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of three shall be necessary to a decision. No more than five justices shall sit in any case. The Governor shall designate the presiding justice of each Appellate Division, who shall act as such during his term of office and shall be a resident of the department. The other justices of the Appellate Divisions shall be designated by the Governor, from all the justices elected to the Supreme Court, for terms of five years or the unexpired portions of their respective terms of office, if less than five years. The justices heretofore designated shall continue to sit in the Appellate Divisions until the terms of their respective designations shall expire. From time to time as the terms of the designations expire, or vacancies occur, the Governor shall make new designations. He may also, on request of any Appellate Division, make temporary designations in case of the absence or inability to act of any justice in such Appellate Division, for service only during such absence or inability to act. In case any Appellate Division shall certify to the Governor that one or more additional justices are needed for the speedy disposition of the business before it, the Governor shall designate an additional justice or additional justices; but when the need for such additional justice or justices shall no longer exist,

the Appellate Division shall so certify to the Governor, and thereupon service under such designation or designations shall cease. A majority of the justices designated to sit in any Appellate Division shall at all times be residents of the department. Whenever the Appellate Division in any department shall be unable to dispose of its business within a reasonable time, a majority of the presiding justices of the several departments, at a meeting called by the presiding justice of the department in arrears, may transfer any pending appeals from such department to any other department for hearing and determination. The several Appellate Divisions, except as hereinafter provided, shall have and exercise such original or appellate jurisdiction as is now or may hereafter be prescribed by law. Each Appellate Division shall have power to appoint and remove its clerk and attendants. No justice of the Appellate Division shall, within the department to which he may be designated to perform the duties of an appellate justice, exercise any of the powers of a justice of the Supreme Court, other than those of a justice out of court, and those pertaining to the Appellate Division, except that he may decide causes or proceedings theretofore submitted, or hear and decide motions submitted by consent of counsel, but any such justice, when not actually engaged in performing the duties of such appellate justice in the department to which he is designated, may hold any term of the Supreme Court and exercise any of the powers of a justice of the Supreme Court in any judicial district in any other department of the State. From and after the last day of December, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, the Appellate Division shall have the jurisdiction now exercised by the Supreme Court at its General Terms and by the General Terms of the Court of Common Pleas for the city and county of New York, the Superior Court of the city of New York, the Superior Court of Buffalo and the city of Brooklyn, and such additional jurisdiction as may be conferred by the Legislature. The justices of the Appellate Division in each department shall have power to fix the times and places for holding special and trial terms of the Supreme Court held therein and to assign the justices in the departments to hold such terms; or to make rules therefor.

Appellate terms.— § 3. The Appellate Divisions in the first and second departments shall severally have power to establish an Appellate Term of the Supreme Court to be held in and for its department, to be constituted of not less than three nor more than five justices of the Supreme Court, who shall be designated from time to time by such Appellate Division and shall be residents of the department. Any such Appellate Term may be discontinued and reestablished as said Appellate Divisions, respectively, from time to time shall determine, and any designation to service therein may be revoked at any time by the Appellate Division so designating. In each Appellate Term, no more than three justices assigned thereto shall sit in any case; two of such justices shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of two shall be necessary to a decision. Such Appellate Term shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine all appeals now or hereafter authorized by law to be taken to the Supreme Court or to the Appellate Division other than appeals from the Supreme Court, a Surrogate's Court, or the Court of General Sessions of the city of New York, as may from time to time be directed by the Appellate Division establishing such Appellate Term. The Appellate Term or the Appellate Division establishing it may allow an appeal from such Appellate Term to such Appellate Division whenever in the opinion of either a question of law or fact is involved which ought to be reviewed.

Supreme court justices, terms; vacancies.— § 4. The official terms of the justices of the Supreme Court shall be fourteen years from and including the first day of January next after their election. When a vacancy shall occur otherwise than by expiration of term in the office of justice of the Supreme Court the same shall be filled for a full term, at the next general election held not less than three months after such vacancy occurs; and, until the vacancy shall be so filled, the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, if the Senate shall be in session, or if not in session, the Governor, may fill such vacancy by appointment, which shall continue until and including the last day of December next after the election at which the vacancy shall be filled.

Court of Appeals; judges; clerk.— § 5. The Court of Appeals is continued. It shall consist of the chief judge, the six elected associate judges now in office, who shall hold their offices until the expiration of their respective terms, and their successors, who shall be chosen by the electors of the State, and such justices of the Supreme Court as may be designated for service in said court as hereinafter provided. The official terms of the chief judge and elected associate judges shall be fourteen years from and including the first day of January next after their election. Five members of the court shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of four shall be necessary to a decision; but no more than seven judges shall sit in any case. In case of the temporary absence or inability to act of any judge of the Court of Appeals, the court may designate any justice of the Supreme Court to serve as associate judge of the court during such absence or inability to act. The court shall have power to appoint and to remove its clerk and attendants. Whenever and as often as the Court of Appeals shall certify to the Governor that the court is unable, by reason of the accumulation of causes pending therein, to hear and dispose of the same with reasonable speed, the Governor shall designate such number of justices of the Supreme Court as may be so certified to be necessary, but not more than four, to serve as associate judges of the Court of Appeals. The justices so designated shall be relieved, while so serving, from their duties as justices of the Supreme Court, and shall serve as associate judges of the Court of Appeals until the court shall certify that the need for the services of any such justices no longer exists, whereupon they shall return to the Supreme Court. The Governor may fill vacancies among such designated judges. No such justice shall serve as associate judge of the Court of Appeals except while holding the office of justice of the Supreme Court. The designation of a justice of the Supreme Court as an associate judge of the Court of Appeals shall not be deemed to affect his existing office any longer than until the expiration of his designation as such associate judge, nor to create a vacancy.

Court of Appeals judges; vacancies.— § 6. When a vacancy shall occur otherwise than by expiration of term, in the office of chief or elected associate judge of the Court of Appeals, the same shall be filled, for a full term, at the next general election held not less than three months after such vacancy occurs; and until the vacancy shall be so filled, the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate if the Senate shall be in session, or if not in session, the Governor may fill such vacancy by appointment. If any such appointment be made from among the justices of the Supreme Court, such appointment shall not be deemed to affect his existing office any longer than until the expiration of his appointment as such associate judge, nor to create a vacancy. If any such appointment of chief judge shall be made from among the associate judges, a temporary appointment of associate judge shall be made in like manner; but, in such case, the appointment shall not be deemed to affect his office of associate judge any longer than until the expiration of his appointment as chief judge, nor to create a vacancy. The powers and jurisdiction of the court shall not be suspended for want of appointment or election, when the number of judges is sufficient to constitute a quorum. All appointments under this section shall continue until and including the last day of December next after the election at which the vacancy shall be filled.

Court of Appeals, jurisdiction; appeals to.— § 7. The jurisdiction of the Court of Appeals, except where the judgment is of death, or where the Appellate Division, on reversing or modifying a final judgment in an action or a final order in a special proceeding, makes new findings of fact and renders final judgment or a final order thereon, shall be limited to the review of questions of law; but the right to appeal shall not depend upon the amount involved. Appeals may be taken to the Court of Appeals in the classes of cases enumerated in this section. In criminal cases, directly from a court of original jurisdiction where the judgment is of death, and in other criminal cases from an Appellate Division or otherwise as the Legislature may from time to time provide. In civil cases and proceedings as follows:

(1) As of right, from a judgment or order entered upon the decision of an Appellate Division of the Supreme Court which finally determines an action or special proceeding wherein is directly involved the construction of the Constitution of the State or of the United States, or where one or more of the justices of the Appellate Division dissents from the decision of the court, or where the judgment or order is one of reversal or modification.

(2) As of right, from an order of the Appellate Division granting a new trial where the appellant stipulates that, upon affirmance, judgment absolute shall be rendered against him.

(3) As of right, from a judgment or order of a court of record of original jurisdiction which finally determines an action or special proceeding where the only question involved on the appeal is the validity of a statutory provision of the State or of the United States under the Constitution of the State or of the United States; and on any such appeal only the constitutional question shall be considered and determined by the court.

(4) From a determination of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in any department, other than a judgment or order which finally determines an action or special proceeding, where the Appellate Division allows the same and certifies that one or more questions of law have arisen which, in its opinion, ought to be reviewed by the Court of Appeals, but in such case the appeal shall bring up for review only the question or questions so certified; and the Court of Appeals shall certify to the Appellate Division its determination upon such question or questions.

(5) From a judgment or order entered upon the decision of an Appellate Division of the Supreme Court which finally determines an action or special proceeding but which is not appealable under subdivision one of this section where the Appellate Division shall certify that in its opinion a question of law is involved which ought to be reviewed by the Court of Appeals, or where, in case of the refusal so to certify, an appeal is allowed by the Court of Appeals. Such an appeal shall be allowed when required in the interest of substantial justice. The Legislature may further restrict the jurisdiction of the Court of Appeals and the right of appeal thereto. No appeal shall be taken to said Court of Appeals from a final judgment or order of the Appellate Division in any civil case or proceeding originally commenced in any court other than the Supreme Court, a County Court, a Surrogate's Court, or a Court of Claims or Board of Audit unless the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court shall certify that in its opinion a question of law is involved which ought to be reviewed by the Court of Appeals.

Powers of appellate courts.— § 8. Upon an appeal from a judgment or an order, any appellate court to which the appeal is taken which is authorized to review such judgment or order may reverse or affirm, wholly or in part, or may modify the judgment or order appealed from, and each interlocutory judgment or intermediate or other order which it is authorized to review, and as to any or all of the parties. It shall thereupon render judgment of affirmance, judgment of reversal and final judgment upon the right of any or all of the parties, or judgment of modification thereon according to law, except where it may be necessary or proper to grant a new trial or hearing, when it may grant a new trial or hearing.

Removal of judicial officers.— § 9. Judges of the Court of Appeals and justices of the Supreme Court may be removed by concurrent resolution of both houses of the Legislature, if two-thirds of all the members elected to each house concur therein. All other judicial officers, except justices of the peace, justices of the Municipal Court of the city of New York, and judges or justices of inferior courts not of record, may be removed by the Senate, on the recommendation of the Governor, if two thirds of all the members elected to the Senate concur therein. But no officer shall be removed by virtue of this section except for cause, which shall be entered on the journals, nor unless he shall have been served with a statement of the cause alleged, and shall have had an opportunity to be heard. On the question of removal, the yeas and nays shall be entered on the journal.

Impeachments.— § 10. The Assembly shall have the power of impeachment by a vote of a majority of all the members elected thereto. The court for the trial of impeachments shall be composed of the president of the Senate, the Senators, or the major part of them, and the judges of the Court of Appeals, or the major part of them. On the trial of an impeachment against the Governor or Lieutenant-Governor, neither the Lieutenant-Governor nor the temporary president of the Senate shall act as a member of the court. No judicial officer shall exercise his office after articles of impeachment against him shall have been preferred to the Senate, until he shall have been acquitted. Before the trial of an impeachment, the members of the court shall take an oath or affirmation truly and impartially to try the impeachment according to the evidence, and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present. Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, or removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any public office of honor, trust, or profit under this State; but the party impeached shall be liable to indictment and punishment according to law.

County Courts; judges; jurisdiction.— § 11. The existing County Courts are continued, and the judges thereof now in office shall hold their offices until the expiration of their respective terms. In the county of Kings there shall be five county judges and in the county of Bronx two county judges. The number of county judges in any county may also be increased, from time to time, by the Legislature, to such number that the total number of county judges in any one county shall not exceed one for every two hundred thousand, or major fraction thereof, of the population of such county. The additional county judge in the county of Bronx shall be chosen at the general election held in the first odd-numbered year after the adoption of this amendment. The additional county judges whose offices may be created by the Legislature shall be chosen at the general election held in the first odd-numbered year after the creation of such office. All county judges, including successors to existing judges, shall be chosen by the electors of the counties for the term of six years from and including the first day of January following their election except that in counties within the city of New York the terms shall be fourteen years. County Courts in counties outside the city of New York shall have the powers and jurisdiction now prescribed by law, and also original jurisdiction in actions for the recovery of money only, where all the defendants reside in the county and in which the complaint demands judgment for a sum not exceeding three thousand dollars; but, if, in any action brought in said court, a counterclaim for more than three thousand dollars shall be interposed, the Supreme Court, on the application of either party made in the judicial district embracing the county, may remove the cause to the Supreme Court, whereupon such action shall proceed and be heard as if originally brought therein. The Legislature may hereafter enlarge or restrict the jurisdiction of the County Courts provided, however, that their jurisdiction shall not be so extended as to authorize an action therein for the recovery of money only in which (1) the sum demanded exceeds three thousand dollars, or (2) in which any person not a resident of the county is a defendant.

unless such defendant have an office for the transaction of business within the county and the cause of action arose therein. From and after the first day of January in the second year following the adoption of this article, all the jurisdiction in civil actions or proceedings now vested in the County Courts of the counties of Kings, Bronx, Queens and Richmond shall be withdrawn from such County Courts and vested in the City Court of the city of New York as constituted in and by section fifteen of this article, and said County Courts shall thereafter be vested with jurisdiction only in criminal prosecutions or proceedings as now or hereafter provided by law. County judges shall perform such duties as may be prescribed by law, and their compensation, as established by law, shall be payable out of the county treasury. A county judge of any county outside the city of New York may hold the County Court in any other county when requested by the county judge of such other county; and, in case of the death, absence, or incapacity of a county judge, in a county having no special county judge then able to serve, the Governor may designate a county judge of another county to hold the County Court during such vacancy, absence, or inability to act.

Special county judge or surrogate.— § 12. The Legislature, on application of the board of supervisors or other body exercising similar powers, may, in any county having a County Court, provide for the election of a special county judge or special surrogate, not to exceed two in any county, to discharge the duties of county judge or of surrogate in such cases as may be provided by law. Any such special county judge or surrogate shall be chosen at the general election held in the first odd-numbered year after the creation of any such office, to take office on the first day of January following such election, but no appointment shall be made by the Governor to such office meantime.

Surrogates' Courts; surrogate; jurisdiction; relief by Supreme Court.— § 13. The existing Surrogates' Courts are continued, and the surrogates now in office shall hold their offices until the expiration of their respective present terms. Their successors shall be chosen by the electors of their respective counties, and their terms of office shall be six years, except in the counties of New York, Kings, Bronx and Queens, where they shall hereafter be elected for terms of fourteen years. The Legislature may provide for the election of an additional surrogate in any county having a population of more than one million. Surrogates and Surrogates' Courts shall have the jurisdiction, legal and equitable, and powers now established by law until otherwise provided by the Legislature. The county judge shall be and serve as surrogate of his county, except where a separate surrogate has been or shall be elected. In any county having a population exceeding forty thousand, wherein there is now no separate surrogate, the Legislature may provide for the election of a separate officer to be surrogate, whose term of office shall be six years. When the surrogate shall be elected as a separate officer, his compensation shall be established by law, and shall be payable out of the county treasury.

The Legislature may at any time provide that the duties of county judge and surrogate in any county be discharged by the same person. For the relief of Surrogates' Courts, the Legislature may confer upon the Supreme Court in any county having a population exceeding four hundred thousand, the powers and jurisdiction of surrogates.

and for the city and county of New York is continued with its present jurisdiction, under the name of the Court of General Sessions of the county of New York. The said court shall consist of the judges now in office, all of whom shall continue to be judges of the Court of General Sessions of the county of New York for the remainder of the term for which they were severally elected or appointed. The successors to the judges who were elected or appointed as judges of the Court of General Sessions in and for the city and county of New York shall be elected by the electors within the county of New York. The Legislature may in its discretion authorize the election of one or more additional judges of said court. The successors to all said judges of the Court of General Sessions of the county of New York shall be elected for the term of fourteen years.

City Court of New York city; jurisdiction; justices; clerks; appeals.— § 15. The City Court of the city of New York is continued, and, from and after the first day of January in the second year following the adoption of this article, it shall have the same jurisdiction and power throughout the city of New York, under the name of the City Court of the city of New York, as it now possesses within the county of New York and the county of Bronx, and original jurisdiction concurrent with the Supreme Court in actions for the recovery of money only in which the complaint demands judgment for a sum not exceeding three thousand dollars, and interest, and in actions of replevin, foreclosure of mechanic's liens and liens on personal property where the property involved does not exceed in value the sum of three thousand dollars. Its jurisdiction to enter judgment upon a counterclaim shall be unlimited. It shall consist of the justices then in office, who shall continue to be justices of the court for the remainder of the terms for which they severally were elected or appointed, and the additional justices to be elected as provided in this section. The justices who were elected or appointed as justices of the City Court of the city of New York shall be paid the compensation now fixed by law for such justices until the expiration of the terms for which they were respectively elected or appointed. Eight of their successors shall be elected by the electors of the county of New York and two by the electors of the county of Bronx, and hold office for ten years. There shall also be five additional justices, two of whom shall reside in and be chosen by the electors in the county of Kings, and one of whom shall reside in and be chosen by the electors in each of the counties of New York, Bronx and Queens, and all of whom shall be elected at the first general election following the adoption of this article, and they and their successors, who shall be chosen in like manner, shall hold office for ten years. Until the Legislature shall otherwise provide, the county judge and surrogate of Richmond county shall perform in said county the duties of a justice of the City Court of the city of New York and also the duties of a justice of the Supreme Court at chambers or out of court. The Legislature may in its discretion authorize the election of one or more additional justices of the City Court in any county within the city of New York. The justices hereafter elected shall receive from the city of New York such compensation as may be fixed by law.

The justices of the City Court of the city of New York shall choose one of their number to be the presiding justice thereof, who shall act as such during his term of office, and who shall be charged with the general administration of the court and the assignment of the justices to hold the terms thereof, subject to such regulations as the presiding justices of the Appellate Divisions of the Supreme Court in the first and second departments shall from time to time prescribe. The justices of said City Court shall have power to appoint and remove a chief clerk of the court, and one or more deputy clerks in each county, who shall keep their respective office or offices at a place or places to be designated by the court, and whose duties shall be regulated and supervised by the presiding justice of the court.

All civil actions or proceedings pending on said first day of January in the County Courts of the counties of Kings, Bronx, Queens and Richmond, respectively, are hereby transferred to the City Court of the city of New York for hearing and determination at terms held within the counties in which the same shall be pending, and, for the purpose only of such hearing and determination and the enforcement of the judgments rendered thereon, said City Court shall have and exercise the equity jurisdiction previously vested in the respective County Courts from which such cases are so transferred, but not otherwise. Until the Legislature shall otherwise provide, the clerk of the City Court of the city of New York and the chief clerk of the County Court in each of the counties of Kings, Bronx, Queens and Richmond, shall severally act within his county as a deputy clerk of the City Court of the city of New York, and the presiding justice of the court shall make such rules and regulations respecting the clerk's offices, the assignment of secretaries to the justices, court clerks, stenographers, interpreters and other attendants and the distribution of the business of the court in the said several counties as from time to time may be expedient, subject to such general regulations as the presiding justices of the Appellate Divisions of the first and second departments shall from time to time prescribe. Appeals from the City Court of the city of New York shall be taken to the Appellate Term for the appropriate department or otherwise as may be prescribed by law.

Vacancies in office of certain judges, how filled.— § 16. Vacancies occurring in the office of county judge, special county judge, surrogate, special surrogate, judge of the Court of General Sessions of the city of New York, or justice of the City Court of the county of New York, shall be filled by appointment by the Governor by and with the advice and consent of the Senate if the Senate be in session, or if not in session, the Governor shall fill such vacancy by appointment which shall continue until and including the last day of December next after the election at which the vacancy shall be filled.

Justices of the peace; other local judicial officers.— § 17. The electors of the several towns shall, at their annual town meetings, or at such other time and in such manner as the Legislature may direct, elect justices of the peace, whose term of office shall be four years. In case of an election to fill a vacancy occurring before the expiration of a full term, they shall hold for the remainder of the unexpired term. Their number, classification and duties shall be regulated by law. Justices of the peace, justices of the Municipal Court of the city of New York, and judges or justices of inferior courts not of record, and their clerks, may be removed for cause, after due notice and an opportunity of being heard, by such courts as are or may be prescribed by law. All other judicial officers in cities, whose election or appointment is not otherwise provided for in this article, including all judicial officers holding Courts of Special Sessions, Magistrates' Courts, or other inferior local courts of criminal jurisdiction in the city of New York, shall be chosen by the electors of such cities, or appointed by some local authorities thereof as may be prescribed by law. The boards of supervisors, or other officials exercising power now vested in such boards, may fix the compensation to be paid or allowed to justices of the peace for their services in criminal matters.

Inferior local courts; Children's Courts; Courts of Domestic Relations.— § 18. Inferior local courts of civil and criminal jurisdiction may be established by the Legislature, but no such inferior local court which has been created since the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five, or is hereafter created shall be a court of record. All inferior local courts now or hereafter established may be regulated or discontinued by the Legislature. The Legislature shall not hereafter confer upon any inferior or local court of its creation, any equity jurisdiction or any greater jurisdiction in other respects than is conferred upon County Courts by or under this article; but it may provide that the territorial jurisdiction in civil cases of any inferior or local court now existing or hereafter established in any city or of justices of the peace in cities shall extend throughout the county or counties in which such city may be located. Courts of Special Sessions and inferior local courts of similar character shall have such jurisdiction of offenses of the grade of misdemeanors as may be prescribed by law, and the Legislature may authorize them to try such offenses without a jury.

The Legislature may establish Children's Courts, and Courts of Domestic Relations, as separate courts, or as parts of existing courts or courts hereafter to be created, and may confer upon them such jurisdiction as may be necessary for the correction, protection, guardianship and disposition of delinquent, neglected or dependent minors, and for the punishment and correction of adults responsible for or contributing to such delinquency, neglect or dependency, and to compel the support of a wife, child, or poor relative by persons legally chargeable therewith who abandon or neglect to support any of them. In conferring such jurisdiction the Legislature shall provide that whenever a child is committed to an institution or is placed in the custody of any person by parole, placing out, adoption, or guardianship, it shall be so committed or placed, when practicable, to an institution governed by persons, or in the custody of a person, of the same religious persuasion as the child. In the exercise of such jurisdiction such courts may hear and determine such causes with or without a jury, except those involving a felony.

General provisions as to judges; district attorneys and certain judges not to appear for defendant in criminal case.— § 19. All judges, justices and surrogates shall receive for their services such compensation as is now or may hereafter be established by law, provided only that such compensation shall not be diminished during their respective terms of office. Except as in this article provided, all judicial officers shall be elected or appointed at such times and in such manner as the Legislature may direct. No person shall hold the office of judge or justice of any court or the office of surrogate longer than until and including the last day of December next after he shall be seventy years of age. The judges of the Court of Appeals and the justices of the Supreme Court shall not hold any other public office or trust, except that they shall be eligible to serve as members of a Constitutional Convention. All votes for any such judges or justices for any other than a judicial office or as a member of a Constitutional Convention, given by the Legislature or the people, shall be void. No judicial officer except justices of the peace, shall receive to his own use any fees or perquisites of office. A judge of the Court of Appeals, a justice of the Supreme Court, a judge of the Court of General Sessions of the county of New York, a justice of the City Court of the city of New York, and a county judge or surrogate elected in a county having a population exceeding one hundred and twenty thousand, shall not practice as an attorney or counselor in any court of record in this State nor act as referee in any action or proceeding. The Legislature may impose a similar prohibition upon county judges or surrogates in other counties. No district attorney or assistant to or deputy of a district attorney shall appear or act as attorney or counsel for the defendant in any criminal case or proceeding in any court of the State, nor shall any county judge, special county judge, surrogate, or special surrogate appear or act as counsel for a defendant in any criminal case or proceeding pending in his own county or in any adjacent county.

It shall further provide for the creation of a State law reporting bureau, which shall be under the direction and control of an official State reporter, who shall be appointed and be removable by the Court of Appeals, and who shall be charged with the duty, as may be provided by law and directed by said court, of publishing official reports of the opinions or decisions of all the courts of the State. But all laws and judicial opinions or decisions shall nevertheless be free for publication by any person.

amounts of appropriations theretofore made; bonds or other obligations for the moneys so borrowed shall be issued as may be provided by law, and shall with the interest thereon be paid from such taxes and revenues within one year from the date of issue.

State debts to repel invasions.— § 3. In addition to the above limited power to contract debts, the State may contract debts to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, or defend the State in war; but the money arising from the contracting of such debts shall be applied to the purpose for which it was raised, or to repay such debts, and to no other purpose whatever.

Limitation of legislative power to create debts.— *§ 4. Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, no debt shall be hereafter contracted by or in behalf of this state, unless such debt shall be authorized by law, for some single work or object, to be distinctly specified therein. On the final passage of such bill in either house of the legislature, the question shall be taken by ayes and noes, to be duly entered on the journals thereof, and shall be: "Shall this bill pass and ought the same to receive the sanction of the people?" No such law shall take effect until it shall, at a general election, have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election nor shall it be submitted to be voted on within three months after its passage nor at any general election when any other law, or any bill shall be submitted to be voted for or against. The legislature may, at any time after the approval of such law by the people, if no debt shall have been contracted in pursuance thereof, repeal the same; and may at any time, by law, forbid the contracting of any further debt or liability under such law.

Except the debts specified in sections two and three of this article, all debts contracted by the state after January first, nineteen hundred and twenty, pursuant to an authorization therefor, heretofore or hereafter made and each portion of any such debt from time to time so contracted irrespective of the terms of such authorization, shall be paid in equal annual instalments, the first of which shall be payable not more than one year, and the last of which shall be payable not more than fifty years, after such debt or portion thereof shall have been contracted. No such debt hereafter authorized shall be contracted for a period longer than that of the probable life of the work or object for which the debt is to be contracted, to be determined by general laws, which determination shall be conclusive.

The legislature may from time to time alter the rate of interest to be paid upon any state debt which has been or may be authorized pursuant to the provisions of this section or upon any part of such debt, provided, however, that the rate of interest shall not be altered upon any part of such debt or upon any bond or other evidence thereof which has been or shall be created or issued before such alteration.

The money arising from any loan creating such debt or liability shall be applied to the work or object specified in the act authorizing such debt or liability, or for the payment of such debt or liability, and for no other purpose whatever.

Sinking fund, how kept and invested.— *§ 5. The sinking funds provided for the payment of interest and the extinguishment of the principal of the debts of the state heretofore contracted shall be continued; they shall be separately kept and safely invested, and neither of them shall be appropriated or used in any manner other than for such payment and extinguishment as hereinafter provided. The comptroller shall each year appraise the securities held for investment in each of such funds at their fair market value not exceeding par. He shall then determine and certify to the legislature the amount of each of such funds and the amounts which, if thereafter annually contributed to each such fund, would, with the fund and with the accumulations thereon and upon the contributions thereto, computed at the rate of three per centum per annum, produce at the date of maturity the amount of the debt to retire which such fund was created, and the legislature shall thereupon appropriate as the contribution to each such fund for such year at least the amount thus certified.

If the income of any such fund in any year is more than a sum which, if annually added to such fund would, with the fund and its accumulations as aforesaid, retire the debt at maturity, the excess income may be applied to the interest on the debt for which the fund was created.

After any sinking fund shall equal an amount the debt for which it was created no further contribution shall be made thereto except to make good any losses ascertained at the annual appraisals above mentioned, and the income thereof shall be applied to the payment of the interest on such debt. Any excess in such income not required for the payment of interest may be applied to the general fund of the state.

The legislature may also by general laws provide means and authority whereby outstanding bonds of the state, for which sinking funds are provided, may be exchanged at par for cancellation, for serial bonds of the form authorized under section four of this article, upon such terms and conditions as to interest and otherwise as it may in its discretion authorize or determine, except that the debt as thus refunded shall finally mature no later and at no greater comparative cost to the state than the original debt; the determination of the legislature as to such comparative cost shall be conclusive. No further contributions to the respective sinking funds shall be made on account of bonds so exchanged and the proportion of any such sinking fund which the amount of the bonds so exchanged shall bear to the amount of bonds outstanding of the same issue may be appropriated, as required, for the payment of the substituted serial bonds.

Claims barred by statute of limitations.— § 6. Neither the Legislature, canal board, nor any person or persons acting in behalf of the State, shall audit, allow, or pay any claim which, as between citizens of the State, would be barred by lapse of time. This provision shall not be construed to repeal any statute fixing the time within which claims shall be presented or allowed, nor shall it extend to any claims duly presented within the time allowed by law, and prosecuted with due diligence from the time of such presentment. But if the claimant shall be under legal disability, the claim may be presented within two years after such disability is removed.

Forest preserve.— *§ 7. The lands of the state, now owned or hereafter acquired, constituting the forest preserve as now fixed by law, shall be forever kept as wild forest lands. They shall not be leased, sold or exchanged, or be taken by any corporation, public or private, nor shall the timber thereon be sold, removed or destroyed. Nothing contained in this section shall prevent the state from constructing a state highway from Saranac lake in Franklin county to Long lake in Hamilton county and thence to Old Forge in Herkimer county by way of Blue Mountain lake and Raquette lake. The legislature may by general laws provide for the use of not exceeding three per centum of such lands for the construction and maintenance of reservoirs for municipal water supply, for the canals of the state and to regulate the flow of streams. Such reservoirs shall be constructed, owned and controlled by the state, but such work shall not be undertaken until after the boundaries and high flow lines thereof shall have been accurately surveyed and fixed, and after public notice, hearing and determination that such lands are required for such public use. The expense of any such improvements shall be apportioned on the public and private property and municipalities benefited to the extent of the benefits received. Any such reservoir shall always be operated by the state and the legislature shall provide for a charge upon the property and municipalities benefited for a reasonable return to the state upon the value of the rights and property of the state used and the services of the state rendered, which shall be fixed for terms of not exceeding ten years and be readjustable at the end of any term. Unsanitary conditions shall not be created or continued by any such public works. A violation of any of the provisions of this section may be restrained at the suit of the people or, with the consent of the supreme court in appellate division, on notice to the attorney-general at the suit of any citizen.

Canals, not to be sold; not applied to certain canals; disposition of funds.— *§ 8. The legislature shall not sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the Erie canal, the Oswego canal, the Champlain canal, the Cayuga and Seneca canal, or the Black River canal; but they shall remain the property of the state and under its management forever. All funds that may be derived from any lease, sale or other disposition of any canal shall be applied to the improvement, superintendence or repair of the remaining portion of the canals.

§ 8. The legislature shall not sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the Erie canal, the Oswego canal, the Champlain canal, the Cayuga and Seneca canal, or the Black River canal; but they shall remain the property of the state and under its management forever. The prohibition of lease, sale or other disposition herein contained, shall not apply to the canal known as the Main and Hamburg street canal, situated in the city of Buffalo, and which extends easterly from the westerly line of Main street to the westerly line of Hamburg street, nor to that portion of the existing Erie canal in the city of Utica between the westerly line of Schuyler street and the easterly line of Third street, provided that a flow of sufficient water from Schuyler street to Third street to feed that portion of the canal east of Third street be maintained; nor shall such prohibition apply to that portion of the existing Erie canal in the county of Herkimer between the easterly portion of the village of Mohawk and the county boundary line between the counties of Herkimer and Oneida. All funds that may be derived from any lease, sale or other disposition of any canal shall be applied to the improvement, superintendence or repair of the remaining portion of the canals.*

* Two separate amendments to this article, in the foregoing language, were approved by the people of New York state at the general election, November 8, 1921.

No tolls to be imposed; contracts for work and materials; no extra compensation.— § 9. No tolls shall hereafter be imposed on persons or property transported on the canals, but all boats navigating the canals and the owners and masters thereof, shall be subject to such laws and regulations as have been or may hereafter be enacted concerning the navigation of the canals. The Legislature shall annually, by equitable taxes, make provision for the expenses of the superintendence and repairs of the canals. All contracts for work or materials on any canal shall be made with the persons who shall offer to do or provide the same at the lowest price, with adequate security for their performance. No extra compensation shall be made to any contractor; but if, from any unforeseen cause, the terms of any contract shall prove to be unjust and oppressive, the canal board may, upon the application of the contractor, cancel such contract.

Canal improvement, and cost thereof.— § 10. The canals may be improved in such manner as the Legislature shall provide by law. A debt may be authorized for that purpose in the mode prescribed by section four of this article, or the cost of such improvement may be defrayed by the appropriation of funds from the State treasury, or by equitable annual tax.

Payment of State debts.—*§ 11. The legislature shall annually provide by appropriation for the payment of the interest upon and instalments of principal of all debts created on behalf of the state except those contracted under section two of this article as the same shall fall due, and for the contribution to all of the sinking funds heretofore created by law, of the amounts annually to be contributed under the provisions of section five of this article. If at any time the legislature shall fail to make any such appropriation, the comptroller shall set apart from the first revenues thereafter received, applicable to the general fund of the state, a sum sufficient to pay such interest, instalments of principal, or contributions to such sinking fund, as the case may be, and shall so apply the moneys thus set apart. The comptroller may be required to set aside and apply such revenues as aforesaid, at the suit of any holder of such bonds.

Improvement of highways.— *§ 12. Debts hereafter authorized for the improvement of highways shall be created only in the manner provided in section four of this article. No provision of this article shall be deemed to impair or affect the validity of any debt of the state heretofore contracted or any right or obligation heretofore created between the state and any of its civil divisions.

The Legislature may authorize by law the creation of a debt or debts of the state to provide for the payment of bonuses to honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines of the World war who were actual residents of the State at the time of their enlistment or induction into the military service of the United States. An apportionment of the moneys on the basis of the periods of service of the respective beneficiaries shall be provided for by general laws. The aggregate of the debts authorized by this section shall not exceed forty-five million dollars. The provisions of this article, not inconsistent with this section, relating to the issuance of bonds for a debt or debts of the State and the maturity and payment thereof, shall apply to a debt or debts created pursuant to this section; except that

Of the expense of a grade crossing elimination to which any of the proceeds of such a debt are applied, twenty-five per centum shall be borne by the State, twenty-five per centum by the city, town or village, and fifty per centum by the railroad company. Laws shall be enacted to provide, so far as practicable, for repayment to the State of moneys advanced in aid of railroad companies, cities, towns and villages, at such times, in such manner and with interest at such rate, that the State shall be able to pay when due the portion of the State debt equal to the proceeds which shall have been so advanced, and interest thereon. And no such corporation shall have any capital stock, nor shall the trustees, thereof, or any of them, have any interest whatever, direct or indirect, in the profits of such corporation; and no director or trustee of any such bank or institution shall be interested in any loan or use of any money or property of such bank or institution for savings. The Legislature shall have no power to pass any act granting any special charter for banking purposes; but corporations or associations may be formed for such purposes under general laws.

Credit or money of the State not to be given.— § 9. Neither the credit nor the money of the State shall be given or loaned to or in aid of any association, corporation or private undertaking. This section shall not, however, prevent the Legislature from making such provision for the education and support of the blind, the deaf and dumb, and juvenile delinquents, as to it may seem proper. Nor shall it apply to any fund or property now held, or which may hereafter be held, by the State for educational purposes.

No county or city whose present indebtedness exceeds ten per centum of the assessed valuation of its real estate subject to taxation, shall be allowed to become indebted in any further amount until such indebtedness shall be reduced within such limit. This section shall not be construed to prevent the issuing of certificates of indebtedness or revenue bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of taxes for amounts actually contained or to be contained in the taxes for the year when such certificates or revenue bonds are issued and payable out of such taxes; nor to prevent the city of New York from issuing bonds to be redeemed out of the tax levy for the year next succeeding the year of their issue, provided that the amount of such bonds which may be issued in any one year in excess of the limitations herein contained shall not exceed one-tenth of one per centum of the assessed valuation of the real estate of said city subject to taxation. prescribed. The legislature may in its discretion confer appropriate jurisdiction on the appellate division of the supreme court in the first judicial department for the purpose of determining the amount of any debt to be so excluded. No indebtedness of a city valid at the time of its inception shall thereafter become invalid by reason of the operation of any of the provisions of this section. Whenever the boundaries of any city are the same as those of a county, or when any city shall include within its boundaries more than one county, the power of any county wholly included within such city to become indebted shall cease, but the debt of the county, heretofore existing, shall not, for the purposes of this section, be reckoned as a part of the city debt. The amount hereafter to be raised by tax for county or city purposes, in any county containing a city of over one hundred thousand inhabitants, or any such city of this state, in addition to providing for the principal and interest of the existing debt, shall not in the aggregate exceed in any one year two per centum of the assessed valuation of the real and personal estate of such county or city, to be ascertained as prescribed in this section in respect to county or city debt

In case of a vacancy, by death, resignation or other cause, of any district delegate elected to the convention, such vacancy shall be filled by a vote of the remaining delegates representing the district in which such vacancy occurs. If such vacancy occurs in the office of a delegate-at-large, such vacancy shall be filled by a vote of the remaining delegates-at-large. THE UNITED STATES with

Creation, date of admission, area and population.

There is no specific form of procedure provided in the United States Constitution for the admission of new states to the Union. Different methods of admission have marked the addition of the thirty-five states to the original thirteen. For admission, however certain conditions must exist. The community must be organized with a population in numbers and character capable of upholding self government and Congress is the final judge as to these requirements. The decisions of Congress, however, have frequently been influenced by party reasons, and in 1872 it was enacted that no state should be admitted thereafter unless it had the necessary population entitling it to at least one representative, according to a ratio of representation fixed. To gain admission, a petition is presented to Congress, which grants an enabling act if the request is favorably received. When all the terms of the enabling act have been complied with, Congress, by resolution, or the President, by proclamation, declares the new state admitted to the Union.

UNITED STATES SENATORS FROM NEW YORK STATE, 1789–1927.

The Constitution of the United States provides that the people of each State shall choose two Senators, who shall hold their office for the term of six years. Vacancies occurring during the recess of the Legislature are directed to be filled by the Executive until the next meeting of the Legislature. At the first session they were divided into three classes, so that one-third might be chosen every second year. A senator must be a resident of the State from which he is chosen, have been nine years a citizen of the United States, and 30 years of age. This State was not represented in the first session of the first Congress held in New York city from April 6, 1789, to September 29, 1789. Senators were chosen by the Legislature prior to 1914; since then by popular vote at a general election, in accordance with Art. XVII, U. S. Constitution.

ROBERT F. WAGNER.

Robert F. Wagner, United States Senator, was born in Prussia on June 8, 1877, coming to this country eight years later. He received his early education in the public schools of New York city, selling newspapers on the streets of the metropolis after school hours, in adding to the family income. He attended the College of the City of New York, from which he graduated with honors in 1896. While attending this institution he supported himself by acting as a private tutor. Senator Wagner then entered the New York Law School, from which he graduated with honors in 1900, being admitted to the bar the same year, and engaging in the practice of law in New York city.

Senator Wagner's entry into politics dates back to 1905 when he became a member of the Assembly, serving in 1905, 1907 and 1908, during which time he served on many of the important committees of the lower house.

In the fall of 1908, Senator Wagner was elected to the State Senate, serving until 1918, when he was elected to the Supreme Court in the first judicial district. As a member of the State Senate, Mr. Wagner was most active, serving on many committees, advocating and bringing about much valuable legislation including the creation of the Conservation Commission, the enactment of the workmen's compensation laws, and many other labor laws.

In 1911, Senator Wagner became the Democratic leader of the upper house and remained such until 1918. Upon the impeachment of William Sulzer, as Governor, and the elevation of the late Martin H. Glynn, Lieutenant-Governor, to the Executive chair, Mr Wagner became the acting Lieutenant-Governor of the State. He was a member of the Constitutional Convention in 1915, and the following year refused an offer of the office of postmaster in New York city.

Senator Wagner was elected to the United States Senate on November 2, 1926, defeating James W. Wadsworth, Jr. Senator Wagner's home is in New York city.

NEW YORK STATE.

New York State, one of the thirteen original States of the Union, was named in honor of the Duke of York, and is commonly referred to as the "Empire State." One hundred and fifty years ago, through the American Revolution, the Royal Province of New York was changed into an independent republic and a few years later became one of the units in the United States of America. In this 150 years, a colony of 180,000 persons has developed into the most populous State in the Union with over 11,000,000 inhabitants, the State becoming the financial center of the Nation as well as ranking first both in commerce and manufactures, while its principal city is the chief gateway to the continent.

New York State is fortunate in possessing one of the greatest harbors in the world, being the chief port of the United States, and through which moves the greater part of the Nation's commerce. A total of 4,808 vessels entered this port for the twelve months ending June 30, 1925, and 4,930 cleared.

The State has a total land and water area of 49,204 square miles, being twenty-ninth in land area among the States and Territories, while its population of 11,162,151, accorded it by the 1925 State census, is approximately one-tenth that of the entire United States. During the ten-year period between 1915 and 1925, New York State's population increased 1,474,407, or 15.2 per cent, as against a gain of 13.9 per cent between 1910 and 1920. The 60 cities in New York State have a population of 8,505,563 and the 500 and more incorporated villages have a population of 1,017,966.

New York State today has more inhabitants than any country in South America with the exception of Brazil, and exceeds any country in North America with the exception of Mexico. More than one-half of the total population of the State reside in New York city, the 1925 census giving the metropolis a population of 5,873,356, or 52.6 per cent, which leaves the remainder of the State with a population of 5,288,795.

There are in New York State over 800 miles of navigable ocean, lake and river waterways. The railroads within the State have a mileage of over 8,400 miles, and the 50,000 and more manufacturing plants of the State employ more than 1,500,000 men and women.

There are 149 savings banks in New York State with 4,683,519 depositors on January 1, 1927. The average deposit per account is $829. Deposits in the State's savings banks totaled $3,865,000,000 on January 1, 1927, a gain of $258,000,000, or 7.2 per cent, during 1926.

New York State possesses a Forest Preserve of 2,039,892 acres on January 1, 1927, an area twice the size of Rhode Island and considerably larger than the State of Delaware. This Preserve has been acquired by the State for the protection of the headwaters of streams, for the preservation of the Adirondack and Catskill mountain regions, and for a general playground enjoyed by hundreds of thousands each year. In addition there are many State parks and reservations. The opportunities for the development of a State park system on Long Island were recognized by the Legislature in 1924, bringing about the establishment of the Long Island State Park Commission, and the development of a comprehensive State park system for Long Island.

New York State has one of the finest school systems of any State in the Union. In New York city alone there are more than 660 public schools and these had a registration on September 30, 1926, of 1,009,778, of which 864,231 were in elementary schools and junior high schools. In New York city there are over 1,600 churches of various denominations.

New York State is rich in its agricultural resources. The Federal census of 1925 revealed a total of 188,754 farms in the State with an acreage of 19,270,259. Practically everything that is characteristic of a temperate zone in fruits, vegetables, grains and forage crops is produced in New York State. The State leads all others in the number of its pear trees, totaling 2,778,761, Michigan being second. In its acreage of small fruits, New York ranks second to Michigan, while the State is second to Vermont in its output of maple sugar, and with the exception of Maine, leads in the production of potatoes. In the value of its live stock products, New York State ranks first in the entire United States.

A Federal census of agriculture in 1925 shows a total of 188,754 farms in New York State as compared with 193,195 in 1920, these farms having a total acreage of 19,269,926, and a value of all farm property amounting to $1,706,929,770. The census shows a total of 440,203 horses as compared to 536,171 in 1920. Dairy cows in 1925 numbered 1,370,060 as against 1,481,918 in 1920. In 1925 there were in this State 472,616 sheep and 259,189 swine.

In 1924 there was a total corn acreage in New York State of 652,716; wheat 313,792 acres, while hay crops had a total acreage of 5,015,576. During that same year 285,586 acres planted to potatoes produced 38,805,641 bushels.

In 1925 there was a total farm population in New York State of 767,500, the white farm population amounting to 763,553.

New York State is the foremost manufacturing State in the Union, with approximately 40,000 industrial establishments having over $5,000 a year output.

There are still over 4,600 Indians on reservations in New York State, the largest number being on the Cattaraugus reservation in the western part of the State.

New York State, through a vote of its school children on Arbor Day in 1891, selected the rose as the State flower, the golden rod being accorded second choice. No particular variety or color of rose was specified when the vote was taken.

Legal holidays in New York State are: January 1, New Year's Day; February 12, Lincoln's Birthday; February 22, Washington's Birthday; May 30, Memorial Day; July 4, Independence Day; First Monday in September, Labor Day; October 12, Columbus Day; First Tuesday after first Monday in November, General Election Day; Last Thursday in November, Thanksgiving Day; December 25, Christmas Day.

NEW YORK STATE'S DEPARTMENTAL REORGANIZATION

Origin, plan, scope and results.

New York State is today functioning under a reorganization plan, which became effective on January 1, 1927, and as a result of which there are now eighteen major departments in the State, to which have been allocated the duties of approximately 180 commissions and bureaus. This plan of reorganization really got under way with the adoption of a constitutional amendment submitted at the general election in November, 1925. The amendment provided for the "short ballot," which reduced the number of elective State officials from seven to four and which was first in effect at the general election in November, 1926, when the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Comptroller and the Attorney-General were elected. The office of the Secretary of State became an appointive one, the duties of the State Treasurer being transferred to the Division of Finance in the Department of Taxation and Finance, while the duties of the State Engineer and Surveyor were transferred to the Division of Engineering in the Department of Public Works.

Following the adoption of the constitutional amendment a State Reorganization Commission of sixty representative citizens was almost immediately named and at the first meeting in New York city on November 19, 1925, former Governor Charles E. Hughes was chosen as chairman. The Commission authorized the establishment of fifteen subcommittees to deal with questions relative to the departments established by the amendment, and likewise provided for an executive committee which became a co-ordinating body that received and considered the reports of these subcommittees.

The report of the State Reorganization Commission recommended the creation of eighteen major departments instead of the twenty specified by the constitutional amendment. Under the authority given by this amendment to reduce, by consolidation, the number of departments, the Commission recommended that the Department of Architecture be consolidated with the Department of Public Works, and the Department of Military and Naval Affairs with the Executive Department.

The report was submitted to the Legislature on March 1, 1926, was adopted, and the various chapters of the so-called State Departments Law enacted by the Legislature of 1926, were signed by the Governor.

In accordance with chapter 836 of the Laws of 1926, a commission of eleven members, consisting of Robert Moses, of New York, and Addison B. Colvin, of Glens Falls, appointed by the Governor; Senator John Knight, Temporary President of the Senate; Senators George R. Fearon, of Syracuse; James A. Higgins, of Brooklyn, and Walter W. Westall, of White Plains, representing the Senate; Speaker Joseph A. McGinnies, of Ripley; Assemblymen Maurice Bloch, of New York; Fred L. Porter, of Crown Point; James R. Robinson, of Ithaca, and Willis H. Sargent, of Syracuse, representing the Assembly, was named, to further study the consolidated government and suggest amendments necessary to conform to the plan of reorganization of the State Departments. The Commission is continued by Chapter 437, Laws of 1927, with certain changes in its personnel.

The plan which became effective on January 1, 1927, provides a much more efficient, econominal and responsive form of administrative organization than the scattered and topheavy organization that formerly existed.

The eighteen major State departments now consist of the Executive Department, the Department of Audit and Control, Department of Taxation and Finance, Department of Law, Department of State, Department of Public Works, Department of Conservation, Department of Agriculture and Markets, Department of Labor, Department of Education, Department of Health, Department of Mental Hygiene, Department of Charities, Department of Correction, Department of Public Service, Banking Department, Insurance Department, Department of Civil Service.

ALFRED E. SMITH.

(Governor.)

Alfred E. Smith, Governor of New York State, was born in New York city on December 30, 1873; attended St. James parochial school, and as a boy sold newspapers along Park Row. When Mr. Smith was thirteen years of age his father died, leaving his mother and younger sister to his care. Assuming the responsibilities as head of the family, Mr. Smith left school and started to work in the trucking business, in which his father had been engaged. Later on, he was employed at the Fulton fish market.

His first political position came in 1895, when he was named as a clerk in the Commissioner of Jurors' office, a position which he held up to 1903, when he was elected to the Assembly, serving until 1916. He became Democratic floor leader in 1912.

In 1913 Mr. Smith was the unanimous choice of the Democrats for Speaker of the Assembly. In 1915 he served with distinction as a delegate to the State Constitutional Convention. He was elected Sheriff of New York county the same year, and in 1917 became President of the Board of Aldermen of New York city.

In 1918 Mr. Smith was nominated and elected Governor of New York State, this being the fifteenth occasion he had run for public office without defeat.

Again nominated for Governor in 1920, Mr. Smith was defeated, although running ahead of his ticket by a million or more votes. In January, 1921, Mr. Smith became chairman of the United States Trucking Corporation.

In September, 1922, Mr. Smith was renominated for Governor and elected in November by the largest plurality ever given a candidate for the office.

Governor Smith was re-elected in November, 1924, being the only candidate of the Democratic party for a State office to be elected.

On November 2, 1926, Governor Smith was elected as the State's chief executive for the fourth time, marking his eighteenth victory in the nineteen times he has been a candidate for public office.

The degree of LL.D. was conferred upon Governor Smith by Columbia University on June 1, 1926.

Governor Smith married Catherine A. Dunn in 1900. They have five children, Alfred E., Jr., Emily Smith Warner, Catherine, Arthur and Walter.

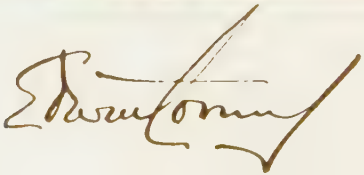
LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR



EDWIN CORNING.

(Lieutenant-Governor.)

Edwin Corning, Lieutenant-Governor, was born in Albany on September 30, 1883, and has resided continuously on the family farm at Kenwood, just outside of the city. The first representative of the family came to this country in the seventeenth century, settling in Beverly, Mass., and in 1812, the family moved to Albany. During the years that have followed, the family has been prominent in the political and industrial activities of the State. Erastus Corning grandfather of the present Lieutenant-Governor, was the first president of the New York Central railroad.

Lieutenant-Governor Corning received his education at the Albany Boys' Academy, the Groton School, at Groton, Mass., from which he entered Yale University, graduating in 1906. He was prominent in college athletics.

Upon returning to Albany, following his graduation from Yale, Mr. Corning began work at the Ludlum Steel plant, learning the business from the ground up, and later being elected as secretary of the company, and in 1910 being chosen as president. Mr. Corning is not only head of this company, but is also identified with other industrial concerns and banks in Albany. He is also interested in practical farming and the raising of throughbred cattle, being an active member of the State Grange. Mr. Corning's farm adjoins that of his brother, Congressman Parker Corning.

Mr. Corning has served as chairman of the Albany County Democratic Committee and in 1926 he was chosen as chairman of the Democratic State Committee, a post which he still holds.

In 1908 Mr. Corning married Louise Maxwell, of Washington, D. C., whose father was a missionary in India. They have four children, Erastus, 2d, Louise, Edwin, Jr., and Harriet. The Corning summer home is at Northeast Harbor, Me. Lieutenant-Governor Corning and his family attend the Episcopal Cathedral of All Saints in Albany.

MORRIS S. TREMAINE.

(Comptroller.)

Morris S. Tremaine, State Comptroller and head of the Department of Audit and Control, was born in Fort Dodge, Kansas, on February 22, 1871, his father being Dr. William Scott Tremaine, a surgeon in the Civil War, and later one of Buffalo's outstanding practitioners. Mr. Tremaine moved to Buffalo when ten years of age, and has made his home in that city ever since. He was educated in the public schools of Buffalo and later at the Upper Canada College of Toronto.

At the age of seventeen, Mr. Tremaine accepted a position as tally boy with a wholesale lumber company in Buffalo, checking lumber on the docks. He was quickly promoted to lumber inspector, at twenty-one years of age became a salesman and shortly after manager of the New York city branch office.

In 1897, Mr. Tremaine became a partner in the lumber firm with which he had started and his career since has been one of unbroken business success. In 1903, he reorganized a large insurance company and eventually became its president. Two years later he organized and accepted the presidency of The National Lumber Insurance Company. During the same year Mr. Tremaine organized a lumber company in Virginia.

In 1914, Mr. Tremaine was offered the presidency of the J. G. Wilson Corporation, manufacturers of rolling steel doors and Venetian blinds, a position he still holds. During the World War, Mr. Tremaine was a member of the first Red Cross committee, vice-chairman of the second committee and manager in all Liberty loan drives in Buffalo.

Because of his marked business successes and high administrative ability, he was drafted by the Democratic party as its candidate for the office of State Comptroller and was elected on November 2, 1926, over Vincent B. Murphy. Mr. Tremaine resides in Buffalo, his family consisting of his wife and two sons, one in business in Buffalo, the other attending Yale. THE GOVERNOR.

Under the first Dutch period, New York State's Chief Executive was known as the Director-General, appointed by the Dutch West India Company and having associated with him a Council, but exercising no control and rendering no independent decisions.

Under the English, the Chief Executive of the State was known as the Captain-General and Governor-in-Chief, and was also Vice-Admiral of New York and Connecticut and keeper of the Great Seal of the Province.

At the time of the Revolution the Governor received 2,000 pounds sterling and 400 pounds currency additional for fuel and candles, but in addition there were fees of considerable amount.

The independent government of New York State really began in 1775 when the Presidents of the various Conventions, Congresses and Councils were the Chief Executives of the State, but possessing no powers except such as were conferred by resolution.

The first Constitution of the State gave the Governor a three-year term. This was changed to two years in accordance with the Constitution of 1821, but an amendment to the Constitution in 1874 again fixed the term of office at three years, this continuing until 1894 when the term again became a two-year one.

Proposed constitutional amendments making the Governor's term four years and increasing the annual salary from $10,000 to $25,000, will be submitted at the general election in November, 1927.

PRIVATE SECRETARIES TO NEW YORK STATE GOVERNORS.

The office of Private Secretary to the Governor is referred to in acts passed in 1793 (chapter 93) and in 1801 (chapter 173). By chapter 5 of the Revised Laws, passed December 3, 1821, the Governor was authorized to appoint a private secretary and doorkeeper of the Executive Chamber. Under the provisions of an act passed April 1, 1858, the statutes were so amended concerning the powers and duties of the Governor as to make the Executive Chamber, to a limited degree, an office of record, and this act authorized the Governor to continue the office of private secretary.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

State Capitol, Albany.

[Chapter 546, Laws of 1926.]

HEAD — George B. Graves, Assistant and Secretary to the Governor. Appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, on January 17, 1927, to serve during pleasure of Governor. Salary $12,000. The Assistant and Secretary to the Governor is a member of the Governor's Cabinet, which comprises the heads of the eighteen major State departments, and which meets twice a month in the Executive Chamber, with the Governor presiding.

The Executive Department is the administrative department of the Chief Executive of the State and through it he supervises, in large measure, the activities of the major State departments. The department consists of four divisions, the Division of the Budget, the Division of Military and Naval Affairs, the Division of Standards and Purchase, and the Division of State Police. A fifth division, known as the Division of Inter-departmental Relations, was eliminated by chapter 21, Laws of 1927.

To the divisions now making up the Executive Department, there were transferred on January 1, 1927, the functions of the Board of Estimate and Control, the Adjutant General, the New York State Bonus Commission, the Department of Purchase and the Bureau of Standards, and the Department of State Police, the supervision of the State Soldiers' and Sailors' Home at Bath, the New York Monuments Commission and the Bureau for the Relief of Sick and Disabled Veterans. The work of one bureau long connected with the Executive Department, handling the appointment of Notaries Public, has been transferred to the Department of State by chapter 144, Laws of 1927. The appointing power is transferred to the Secretary of State and the confirmation by the Senate is no longer required.

In the reorganization program, it was apparently intended that the Governor should head the Executive Department, and to effect this a proposed constitutional amendment will be submitted to the voters in November, 1927.

DIVISION OF THE BUDGET.

(In Executive Department)
State Capitol.

[Chapter 546, Laws of 1926]

Director, Joseph H. Wilson, of Albany. Appointed by the Governor on January 1, 1927, to hold office during his pleasure.

The Director assists the Governor in the formulation of the budget and in assembling, correlating and revising estimates and requests for appropriations submitted by the various state departments, and likewise assists the Governor in the investigation, supervision and coordination of the expenditures and other fiscal operations of the departments.

The law now provides that not later than October 15, each year, heads of each of the civil departments of the state government, not including the legislature or the judiciary, shall submit to the Governor, through the Division of the Budget, an itemized departmental estimate of appropriations deemed necessary to meet the financial requirements of such department for the next ensuing fiscal year, including a statement in detail of all moneys for which any general or special appropriation is desired at the next session of the Legislature.

A copy of such estimate shall be furnished at the same time to designated representatives of the Senate finance committee and the Assembly ways and means committee.

Following hearings on departmental appropriation requests, the Governor has the power to revise such estimates.

Legislative financial estimates, certified by the presiding officer of each house, and of the judiciary, certified by the Comptroller, must be submitted to the Governor not later than October 15, each year, for inclusion in the budget, without revision, but with such recommendation by the Governor as he may deem proper to submit to the Legislature.

The Governor submits to the Legislature, not later than January 15, except in the case of a newly elected Governor, when the date is extended to February 1, a budget containing a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the next fiscal year. The budget also carries recommendations of the Governor for new taxes, loans or other appropriate actions to meet any estimated deficiency for the ensuing fiscal year.

DIVISION OF MILITARY AND NAVAL AFFAIRS.

(In Executive Department)
100 State Street, Albany.

Head, Brigadier General Franklin W. Ward, The Adjutant General
Annual salary, $7,500. Appointed by the Governor.

Under the reorganization, effective January 1, 1927, all functions of the several military and naval staff departments, boards, commissions and bureaus are now performed in the Division of Military and Naval Affairs, through the appropriate officer, department or bureau, but subject to the direction of the Governor. The New York State Soldiers' and Sailors' Home at Bath, now known as The State Camp for Veterans, the New York Monuments Commission for the battlefields of Gettysburg, Chattanooga and Antietam, and the Bureau for the Relief of Sick and Disabled Veterans, are now under the jurisdiction of this division.

The Adjutant General is Chief of Staff for the Governor, who under the Constitution is Commander-in-Chief of the State Military and Naval Forces. The Adjutant General supervises the preparation of all military reports required from the state by the federal government; maintains a register of all officers of the land and naval forces of the state and is general custodian of the ordnance, arms and accoutrements as well as all military and naval equipment of the state, or issued to the state by the federal government; and audits military accounts.

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

Education Building, Albany.

[Chap. 544, Laws of 1926; Chap. 153, Laws of 1927.]

While the real beginning of New York's common school system dates back to the early days of the colony of New Netherlands, the first attempt for State supervision did not come until after the close of the Revolutionary War. In 1784, as the result of a recommendation by Governor George Clinton, the Board of Regents of The University of the State of New York was established and incorporated by act of the Legislature. Its continuance has since been provided for by the State Constitution. The first public school in New York was established in 1638. Legislation enacted in 1812 created a state system of common schools and provided for a state superintendent of common schools. The administration of the new system was placed in charge of Gideon Hawley, who has been called the father of the common school system in New York. This was the first State system of education established in this country.

With the enactment of the law of 1812, the educational work of New York State became vested in two authorities — the Regents of the University, having jurisdiction over the academies and higher education, and the superintendent of common schools, having jurisdiction over the elementary and public secondary schools. As the authority of each was from time to time extended, there developed an overlapping of authority. In 1854 the state department of public instruction was created, its chief officer being called the superintendent of public instruction, who was invested with all the powers of the former superintendent of common schools. During the thirty years immediately preceding the passage of this act, the secretary of state had also acted as superintendent of common schools.

Various attempts were made from time to time to unify the educational work of the State, but all were unsuccessful until 1904, when the problem was happily adjusted. Unification was made more complete in 1913 when, by Regents action, The University of the State of New York was made to include the State Education Department in all its manifold duties and functions. All the educational work of the State is now vested in a single department, under the legislative direction of the Board of Regents, and the executive direction of the Commissioner of Education, who is also President of the University.

THE BOARD OF REGENTS.

The Board of Regents of The University of the State of New York was established and incorporated by act of the Legislature in 1784. The continuance of the Board is provided for by the Constitution of the State. There are twelve Regents who are elected, one each year, by the Legislature in joint session. Each of the eight judicial districts of the State must be represented in the Board.

The University of the State of New York which, as a corporate body the Regents constitute and govern, is the most comprehensive educational organization in the world. It includes in its constituent membership and has under its supervision all public schools of the State, and also, in the terms of the law, includes, as institutions of the University, all secondary and higher educational institutions which are now or may hereafter be incorporated in this State, and such libraries, museums, institutions, schools, organizations and agencies for education as may be admitted to or incorporated by the University. By law the State Library and State Museum are specifically departments of the University, and the Regents are authorized to establish such other departments and divisions therein as they shall deem useful in the discharge of their duties.

Among their specific powers, the Regents are authorized to exercise legislative functions concerning the educational system of the State; to determine its educational policies, and make rules for carrying into effect the laws relating to education and the powers of the University. They have exclusive power to incorporate educational institutions and organizations; they may confer degrees and regulate their issuance within the State; they have power to visit and inspect educational institutions of the State, conduct examinations therein and require reports therefrom; they register domestic and foreign educational institutions and fix the value of degrees, diplomas and certificates from all parts of the world, when presented for entrance to schools, colleges, universities and the professions; they may establish and stimulate educational extension work and conduct examinations and grant credentials therein, and they supervise the entrance requirements to the professions of law, medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, pharmacy, optometry, the certification of nurses, public accountants, chiropodists, shorthand reporters, engineers and architects. The department has jurisdiction over all Indian schools. The censorship of motion pictures came under the department on January 1, 1927.

The chief officers of the University are the Chancellor and the President of the University, who is also the Commissioner of Education.

The Commissioner of Education, who is also President of The University of the State of New York, is the chief executive officer of the Board of Regents and of the state educational system. He is elected by the Board of Regents for an indefinite term.

The State Library was established in 1818 and placed in the custody of the Regents in 1844. It is an integral part of the State's educational system. It numbers over 535,000 volumes besides rich manuscript and archive collections.

The State Museum has supervision of the scientific work of the Education Department and conducts the Geological Survey of the State of New York under the direction of the State Geologist and Paleontologist and his staff. This is the oldest official geological organization in the United States, taking its date from 1836. The Division also embraces the work of the State Botanist, the State Entomologist, and the researches carried on by the Zoologist, the Archeologist and the technical and other members of the scientific staff. It also has the custody of the State Museum.

INDIANS.

[Chapter 16, Laws of 1927.]

The interests of Indian tribes residing on reservations in New York State are looked after by attorneys and agents appointed by the State Board of Charities, such attorneys and agents being under the supervision of the Division of Special Welfare Interests. An Indian may be held liable on contracts not prohibited by law; may hold and convey real property and becomes liable to taxation upon becoming a freeholder to the value of $100.

Indian reservations are exempt from taxation so long as the land remains the property of the nation, the tribe or band occupying it. Tribal land, however, may be allotted among individuals or families. An Indian, not a member of a certain tribe, may be granted permission to reside upon lands of such tribe under certain conditions and limitations.

The agent of the Onondaga Indians residing on the Onondaga reservation is appointed for a term of one year, but the agent of the Onondaga Indians residing on the Allegany, Cattaraugus, Tuscarora and Tonawanda reservations is appointed for four years. The attorneys for the Seneca, Tonawanda and St. Regis Indians are appointed for three-year terms.

INSTITUTIONS FOR THE BLIND.

The institutions for the care, instruction and maintenance of the blind are supported by legislative appropriations or from per capita appropriations made for the support and instruction of State and county pupils. The managers of the New York Institute for the Education of the Blind (a private corporation), the State paying $550 per person each year, located in New York city, are elected by members of the society, the State Board of Charities having inspectional authority. The institution at Batavia is owned by the State, and its trustees are appointed by the Governor, the administrative control being under the Department of Education.

INSTITUTIONS FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB.

The several institutions for the deaf and dumb receive $550 a year per capita from the State for the maintenance of such pupils five years of age and over as may be appointed by the Commissioner of Education. Pupils under five years of age may be received as county pupils at the annual charge to counties of the same rate as above, upon the order of an officer or board responsible for the care of destitute children. As a rule the grounds and buildings of these institutions belong exclusively to private corporations, who appoint the superintendent or principal. The State Board of Charities has inspectional authority.

HEAD — Frank H. Warder, Superintendent of Banks, appointed by Governor January 20, 1926, and confirmed by Senate, holding office until expiration of present term July 1, 1929. Annual salary, $12,000. The department supervises and examines State banks, trust companies, savings banks, savings and loan associations, investment companies, safe deposit companies, personal loan companies and brokers, credit unions, State Land Bank and certain private bankers in cities. Liquidates failed institutions. Entire cost of maintaining department paid by institutions under supervision. Four deputies, and seventy-six examiners.

Under the colonial form of government, bills of credit were issued by authority of the Colonial Legislature from time to time, and Loan Commissioners were appointed for their supervision. An act passed in 1782, prohibited any bank in the State, other than the Bank of North America, but subsequently State banks were chartered by the Legislature from time to time. An act passed in 1829, creating a safety fund, directed the appointment of three Bank Commissioners, whose duty it was to visit the banks of the State, examine their condition and report annually to the Legislature. In 1843, the banks were directed to report to the State Comptroller, this continuing to 1851, when a law was passed creating the office of Superintendent of the Banking Department.

Under this law, the Superintendent of Banks was charged with the general supervision of all moneyed associations existing under State laws, except insurance corporations. An act passed March 20, 1857, placed the savings banks of the State under the supervision of the Superintendent of Banks. Trust, loan and mortgage companies were required to report to him semi-annually.

The Superintendent is required to give a bond in the sum of $50,000 to insure the faithful discharge of the duties of his office and the law provides that he shall not either directly or indirectly be interested in any corporation under his supervision, or engage in business as a private banker or personal loan broker.

HIGHWAYS AND BRIDGES.

Up to June 1, 1927, there had been 98 contracts let for highways representing 348.89 miles and also 131 bridges, the whole totaling $17,940,354.72. It is estimated that there will be approximately 200 additional miles of road placed under contract by the end of the year at a total cost of approximately $12,000,000. There will also be approximately 200 additional bridges placed under contract at a total cost of approximately $3,000,000.

GRADE CROSSING ELIMINATIONS.

While 1927 will witness the placing under contract of not more than 35 grade crossing elimination projects, the preliminary work has progressed on at least 50 other cases which have been ordered by the Public Service Commission, and for which plans are in course of preparation.

The next project in order of importance is the Jamaica elimination, involving six grade crossings, the average number of tracks being eight at each crossing. This elimination will cost about $3,000,000.

Other eliminations under way are at Elmhurst, Queens, involving an expenditure of approximately $500,000, and at Mosholu avenue, Bronx, costing $75,000.

Other elimination projects under the jurisdiction of the Transit Commission either already ordered or to be determined upon within the next few months are at Ozone Park, Long Island, involving five grade crossings, to cost $2,100,000; four eliminations on the Whitestone Branch of the Long Island Railroad to cost approximately $1,000,000; two eliminations on the Northside Division, Long Island Railroad, at Auburndale and Bayside, to cost approximately $750,000; one grade crossing at Clifton on the Staten Island Rapid Transit Railway costing $575,000; three grade crossings at Ft. Wadsworth on the Staten Island Rapid Transit Railway to cost $650,000; one grade crossing at Tompkins avenue on the Staten Island Rapid Transit Railway to cost $300,000.

Hearings will begin in a few months on the gigantic Mariners Harbor project by which it is planned to eliminate twenty-one grade crossings on the Staten Island Rapid Transit Railway, at a cost of about $3,500,000, with many others planned for the ensuing year.

CANALS.

Work involving a total of 26 contracts, 13 of which were carried over from 1926, is being directed by the Division of Canals, the 26 contracts calling for an expenditure of $1,612,000 and involving bank protection, dredging and the removal of old canal bridges.

METROPOLITAN BRIDGES AND TUNNELS.

Under the direction of The Port of New York Authority, two bridges are being constructed between Staten Island and New Jersey over the Arthur Kill at an estimated cost of $18,000,000. These bridges are actually under construction and are scheduled to be completed by the fall of 1928. Another bridge connecting New Jersey with Staten Island will be constructed across the Kill von Kull at an estimated cost of $16,000,000. Another bridge is being erected between Fort Washington in New York City and Fort Lee in New Jersey, and estimates are that it will be opened for traffic at a cost of approximately $50,000,000.

The States of New York and New Jersey have each agreed to make available $2,000,000, payable in five annual installments, for the construction of the bridges over the Arthur Kill. The two States also have agreed to make available $2,000,000 each, payable in five annual installments, in aid of construction of the Kill von Kull Bridge. For the Hudson River Bridge, the two States have agreed to make available $5,000,000 each, payable in five annual installments of $1,000,000. All the moneys advanced by the two States will be returned by the Port Authority from revenues received from bridge tolls.

The remaining funds needed for the construction of these bridges will be secured through the issuance of Port Authority bonds.

The Holland tunnel for vehicular and pedestrian traffic from Canal and Broome streets, New York City, to Twelfth and Fourteenth streets, Jersey City, will be opened to public traffic this fall. This tunnel consists of twin tubes, each 29 feet in diameter and approximately 9,250 feet in length. The work was commenced on October 12, 1920, and the tunnels when completed will represent an investment by the States of New York and New Jersey of approximately $18,400,000. New York's share was met by direct appropriations as the work progressed and New Jersey's share was financed by bond issues. The tunnels were constructed by the New York State Bridge and Tunnel Commission, representing the State of New York, and the New Jersey Interstate Bridge and Tunnel Commission, representing the State of New Jersey.

PARKS.

The extension and improvement of State parks to create a unified State park system is being financed in part through the proceeds of the $15,000,000 park bond issue of 1924 and in part through appropriations from current revenues, from the public works bond issue and through proceeds from the sale of unappropriated State lands. The allotments to several park regions in the park bond issue have been exhausted. In the case of these regions other funds have been made available for 1927. Park bond issue funds are still being used for the extension of the Forest Preserve and for extensions and improvements in the Palisades, Niagara, Allegany and Genesee regions.

Among the most important of the projects under way are:

Palisades — The acquisition of additional land and numerous improvements in the park region including the Sparkill Viaduct, as well as lakes, dams and bridges.

It is estimated that this bridge will cost approximately $800,000, with New York State bearing 60 per cent and Vermont the remaining 40 per cent. New York State's initial appropriation was $120,000, the remaining cost of New York State's portion to be met by bond issue.

DEPARTMENT OF MENTAL HYGIENE.

To care for approximately 44,500 patients in the fourteen civil State hospitals in New York State during 1926, there was a necessary expenditure of $16,220,197.87, divided as follows: Maintenance and operation, $8,921,972.75; personal service, $7,298,225.12. The cost in 1925 was $15,491,907.99. The per capita cost of maintenance of patients in 1926 was $396.79, an increase of $10.42 over 1925.

At the close of the fiscal year June 30, 1926, there were 47,514 patients in the three classes of institutions in New York State caring for mentally diseased persons. The fourteen civil State hospitals had 44,419 patients while the two State hospitals for the criminal insane had 1,576 persons; in 29 licensed institutions there were 1,519 committed insane. The net increase during the fiscal year was 818 in the civil hospitals, 20 in the hospitals for criminal insane and 152 among committed insane in licensed institutions. Due to the activities of the Bureau of Special Examination in removing alien and non-resident patients from the State, the increase is greatly reduced.

Of the 47,514 persons there were 49.2 per cent males and 50.8 per cent females. As an offset to the amount expended by the State for patients' care, there was received from paying patients an amount equivalent to 10.7 per cent of the total cost of maintenance.

STATE HOSPITALS.

The following figures, compiled by the Department of Mental Hygiene, show the classification of patients in State hospitals as to diseases for the year ending June 30, 1926; the movement of patients in the civil State hospitals for the same period; the number of male and female patients in State, private and criminal hospitals, with ratio as to population; the number of admissions, recoveries and deaths, as well as the number of aliens in State hospitals and the number of aliens and non-resident patients removed, with the expenditures connected with the State hospitals, these figures being for the fiscal years 1918 to 1926 inclusive.

Due to the fact that the State government is now functioning in its reorganized form effective January 1, 1927, the foregoing table necessarily includes in the 1917 appropriations amounts made for agencies of the State government that are now consolidated in the departments.

Executive.— While there is a decrease of $4,553,703.25 between 1917 and 1927, it should be borne in mind that 1917 was a war year and that appropriations totaling $7,227,780 were made for war purposes including an appropriation of $2,610,000 to acquire land around the Rockaway Fort; $1,100,000 for the mobilization of the National Guard and the Naval Militia; $1,000,000 for a Defense Council; $1,500,00) for a food supply commission and similar activities. Deducting this $7,227,780 from the 1917 appropriation, would show the Executive Department with an increase of $2,674,076.75 over 1917. Since 1917, the State Police has increased from 238 officers and men to 603, with an appropriation increase of approximately $1,500,000 during the ten years. A central purchasing department, created in 1921, has brought a resultant increase to the Executive Department, while institutions formerly under the head of " charitable " and which were transferred to the Executive Department on January 1, 1927, show an increase of $849,091.24.

Legislative.— The decrease in this department since 1917 amounts to $1,169,903.37. This is due to the transfer of appropriations for departmental printing aggregating $800,000, while the publication of general laws and official notices which cost $456,000 in 1917, has been brought down to $100,000 in 1927.

Judicial.— While the table shows an apparent increase of $569,-899.36 over 1917, there was in 1917 an extremely large appropriation as the result of a decision of the Court of Appeals on State transfer tax cases forcing the State to return $1,328,839.36, so the real increase in the judicial branch of the government amounts to $1,898,738.72.

Audit and Control.— The increase in this department amounting to $1,476,662.42, is mainly due to the pension accumulation fund. Back in 1917, there were small pensions for employees, but the appropriation for the pension fund in 1927 was $1,312,198.50 with an operating cost of $65,661.45. There is also an appropriation for retired veteran employees amounting to $23,280, the remaining increase being due to departmental expansion.

Taxation and Finance.— The increase in this department over 1917 amounts to $3,974,710.07. Primarily, this is due to the inauguration of the personal income tax, the transfer of the inheritance tax, the stock transfer tax, the land tax and a part of the corporation tax bureaus from the Comptroller's office to the Tax Department, and the motor vehicle bureau from the Secretary of State's office. Back in 1917, when the motor vehicle bureau was in the Secretary of State's office, there was an appropriation of $336,000 to meet its running expense. This year the bureau is operating at an expense of $1,895,000. In 1917–18 the bureau's receipts were $2,677,531.65. This year the revenue from the bureau will approximate $23,500,000.

Law.— The increase over 1917 amounts to $894,225.65. The largest item making up this increase is due to the payment of judgments against the State amounting to $410,483.70, in what is known as the gas cases. The appropriation for the investigation of the sale of securities amounted to $184,500. Departmental activities also account for certain increases.

State.— The Department of State shows an increase in running expenses over 1917 of $213,248.92. The licensing of real estate brokers and salesmen, as well as billiard and poolrooms came to the department in 1927, involving an appropriation of $91,000. Back in 1917, the Athletic Commission had an appropriation of $6,910. This year the appropriation was $67,580. The remainder of the increase in the department is due to the natural expansion.

Conservation.— The increase over 1917 amounts to $1,663,119.01. The general development of regional parks throughout the State following the bond issues has brought a resultant increase in the appropriation. Ten years ago, there was no appropriation for Allegany State Park; this year the appropriation amounts to $94,920; while Finger Lakes Park Commission had an appropriation in 1917 of $9,100, in 1927 the appropriation was $176,000. The appropriation for the Long Island Park Commission has gone from $5,860 to $375,129 in the decade, and that for the Palisades Interstate Park from $78,190 to $267,660.

Agriculture and Markets. — The increase of $191,504.69 over ten years ago is due mainly to departmental expansion and the work of eradicating bovine tuberculosis.

Labor.— The increase in this department amounts to $1,409,295.17 over 1917, due to the enactment of the Workmen's Compensation Law, the expansion of factory and mercantile inspection, as well as in the State compensation insurance. There has been within the past ten years a considerable expansion in the departmental activities with a resultant increased expense.

Education. — The increase in the department of education since 1917 amounts to $71,778,225.63. The greatest increase is in the State's support of common schools. Back in 1917, this item amounted to $6,171,067. This year the item reached $71,965,000, an increase of $65,793,933. Academic quotas have grown from $74,500 in 1917 to $610,000; books, apparatus and works of art, from $80,000 to $150,000; non-resident tuition from $340,000 to $1,350,000; teachers' training from $90,000 to $225,000; annuities from $26,000 to $70,000. For the rehabilitation of physically handicapped persons, there is an appropriation this year of $100,000, with an appropriation of $875,212 for the support and instruction of the deaf, dumb and blind, as compared to $430,737.25 ten years ago.

Health.— The increase over 1917 amounts to $1,016,382.18. This increase is largely due to the campaign being conducted by the state for the promotion of health protection of its citizens, including increased laboratory service, state aid to county laboratories, state aid to hospitals in counties where there is no second class city, and the enlargement of the research institution for the study of malignant diseases.

Charities.— An increase of $109,513.43 over 1917 is mainly due to the normal expansion in charitable institutions, both public and private, by increased appropriations for the transfer and repatriation of poor belonging in other states, and by increases for the care of the blind.

Mental Hygiene; Correction.— The increase in the department of mental hygiene amounting to $12,016,423.19, and the increase in the department of correction amounting to $2,258,275.58, is primarily due to an approximate increase of 25 per cent in inmate population, and to increased compensation for doctors, nurses, attendants and other employees.

Public Service.— A decrease of $620,717.41 from 1917 is shown by the table. Back in 1917, there was a $500,000 appropriation for the elimination of grade crossings. This work is now being taken care of by bond issues. Ten years ago, there was an upstate public service commission and also one in New York City. The latter has been eliminated and in its place a Transit Board created, with the major portion of its expense met by the city of New York.

Banking; Insurance. — The increase over 1917 in the running expenses of the Banking Department amounts to $258,275, while the increase in the Insurance Department over the decade amounts to $297,513.11. There has been a natural increase in banking and insurance which is reflected in the increased appropriations. The bulk of funds appropriated for these departments is refunded by banks and insurance companies.

Civil Service.— The increase during the past ten years in this department amounts to $48,186.50. The expenditures of this department are controlled by the enlargement of State activities which explains the increase.

Debt Service.— The increase in the debt service of the State over that of 1917 amounts to $4,559,793.32. This increase is due to the enlargement of the public debt and includes sums necessary to pay interest on and provide for the amortization of the bonded debt of the State.

Public Works.— The increase in the Department of Public Works over 1917 amounts to $3,443,483.44. This department covers the operations of the Barge canal, the building of highways and the construction of all State public buildings. The Barge canal has been completed since 1917 with a resultant increase in operating costs. Back in 1917, many charges for canal and highway purposes were being paid from the proceeds of bond issues. These are now being met by current appropriations. During the ten years the highway program has been greatly enlarged and the State has also entered upon an extensive program of institutional and public building construction. This has necessitated an enlargement of departmental forces for the preparation of plans and specifications and the supervision of construction.

Highways.— In 1917 there were three appropriations made for highway purposes as follows: For the maintenance and repair of improved highways $4,695,000; for State aid and local roads $1,984,002; for rural post roads $400,000.

In 1927 appropriations for this work were: For the maintenance and repair of improved highways $18,000,000; for State aid and local roads, $2,930,000; for rural post roads $6,000,000. Additional appropriations totaling $8,050,070, have been made in 1927 for special highway projects.

Bridges, Tunnels and Port Authority.— The increase over 1917 amounts to $5,831,000, due to an appropriation in 1927 of $3,000,000 for rebuilding narrow bridges on State highways previously constructed and maintained by the towns; an appropriation of $1,650,000 to complete the New York and New Jersey tunnel; $1,000,000 toward the erection of a bridge between New York and New Jersey; $121,000 toward the expense of a bridge across Lake Champlain and $100,000 for the port authority, which did not exist ten years ago.

COURT OF APPEALS.

The Court of Appeals is the court of last resort with appellate jurisdiction only. The right to appeal to it is limited to classes of cases enumerated by the Constitution, which may be further restricted by law.

The Court consists of a Chief Judge and six associate Judges who are chosen by the electors of the State for terms of fourteen years, but no Judge can hold his office longer than until the last day of December next after he shall be seventy years of age. In case of the temporary absence or inability of any Judge, the Court may designate any Justice of the Supreme Court to serve as associate Judge. Whenever the Court shall certify to the Governor that it is unable, by reason of the accumulation of causes pending to dispose of them with reasonable speed, the Governor shall designate such number of Justices of the Supreme Court as may be so certified to be necessary, but not more than four, to serve as associate Judges. The Justices so designated shall serve until the Court shall certify that the need for their services no longer exists.

When a vacancy shall occur in the regular membership of the Court, otherwise than by expiration of term, the same shall be filled, for a full term, at the next general election held not less than three months after such vacancy occurs; and until the vacancy shall be so filled, the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, if the Senate be in session, or if not in session, the Governor may fill such vacancy by appointment. Judges may be removed from office by concurrent resolution of the Legislature, if two-thirds of all the members elected to each house concur therein. They can hold no other public office or trust, except that they may be members of a constitutional convention.

Five members of the Court shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of four shall be necessary to a decision; but no more than seven Judges shall sit in any case.

The salary of the Chief Judge is $22,500 per annum, and the salary of each associate Judge is $22,000. Each receives $3,000 per annum in lieu of expenses. They cannot receive any fees for their own use.

The Court has power to appoint and remove a Clerk and attendants. The salary of the Clerk is $6,500.

Under the Dutch government the court of last resort in the colony was the Council, composed of the Governor and his Council. In the earlier times an appeal from the Council was allowed to be made to the Amsterdam chamber of the West India Company. Under the English regime in 1665 there was established the Court of Assize which had appellate jurisdiction. The Court of Oyer and Terminer, established in 1683, had general appellate jurisdiction, subject to an appeal to the King. In 1691 the Court of last resort was made the Governor and Council, styled the Court of Appeals, with limited right of appeal to the Crown

The first Constitution of the State in 1777, established a Court for the Trial of Impeachments and Correction of Errors to consist of the President of the Senate, the Senators, Chancellor and Judges of the Supreme Court, or the major part of them. In its correction of errors on appeal from inferior courts, this Court constituted the court of last resort.

It was succeeded, pursuant to the Constitution of 1846, by the present Court of Appeals, so far as the correction of errors was concerned. As first organized this Court was composed of eight Judges, four of whom were chosen by the people for terms of eight years, and four were selected from the class of Justices of the Supreme Court having the shortest time to serve. The Judge elected by the people having the shortest time to serve acted as Chief Judge. The Clerk was elected by the people for a term of three years. The Court was reorganized, as at present constituted, by an amendment to the Constitution in 1869.

There are deposited in the office of the Court at Albany the records of the former Court for the Trial of Impeachments and Correction of Errors and the former Court of Chancery, and of the Supreme Court prior to its reorganization in 1847.

SUPREME COURT.

The Supreme Court is the court of general jurisdiction in law and equity, subject to the limited appellate jurisdiction of the Court of Appeals. This general jurisdiction in law and equity includes all actions, civil and criminal, and includes all the jurisdiction which was exercised by the Supreme Court of the colony of New York and by the former Court of Chancery, with the exceptions, additions and limitations created and imposed from time to time by the Constitution and the laws.

The State is divided into nine judicial districts. There are thirty-six Justices in the first district; twenty in the second; seven in the third; six each in the fourth and sixth districts; eight in the fifth; eight in the seventh; fourteen in the eighth and seven in the ninth,—one hundred and twelve in all. The number in any district may be increased by the Legislature not to exceed one justice for each sixty thousand, or fraction over thirty-five thousand, of population. Justices are elected by the voters of their respective districts. Although elected in districts, the jurisdiction of each Justice extends to every part of the State.

The term of office is fourteen years from the first day of January next after their election, but no Justice can hold his office longer than until the last day of December next after he shall be seventy years of age. They can hold no other public office or trust, except that they may be members of a constitutional convention. They cannot receive to their own use any fees. When a vacancy occurs otherwise than by expiration of the term of office, the same is filled for a full term at the next general election happening not less than three months after such vacancy occurs; and until the vacancy is so filled, the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, if the Senate shall be in session, or if not in session, the Governor can fill such vacancy by appointment, which shall continue until and including the last day of December next after the election at which the vacancy shall be filled. Justices may be removed from office by concurrent resolution of the Legislature, if two-thirds of all the members elected to each house concur therein.

The salary of each Justice is $15,000 a year. Those assigned to the Appellate Divisions in the third and fourth departments each receive in addition the sum of $2,000, and the Presiding Justices the sum of $2,500 per year. Justices elected in the first and second judicial departments receive from their respective cities, counties or districts, such additional compensation as may be allowed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. Justices elected in any judicial department other than the first or second, and assigned to the Appellate Divisions of the first or second departments, while so assigned, receive from those departments respectively, as now provided by law, such additional sum as is paid to the Justices of those departments.

The county clerks of the several counties are clerks of the Supreme Court in their respective counties, and the seals of such county clerks are the seals of the court.

The State is also divided into four Judicial Departments.

There is an Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in each Judicial Department, with such original or appellate jurisdiction as is prescribed by law. Except in cases where an appeal is allowed to the Court of Appeals, this appellate jurisdiction is final. There are seven Justices in the first and second departments and five Justices in each of the other departments. In each department four Justices constitute a quorum, and three are necessary to a decision. No more than five Justices sit in any case. The Governor designates the Presiding Justice and the other Justices who shall constitute the Appellate Division in each department. The Presiding Justice and a majority of the Justices so designated to sit in the Appellate Division in each department shall be residents of the department. The Presiding Justices serve during their respective terms of office; the other Justices for terms of five years, or the unexpired portions of their respective terms, if less than five years.

The Governor may also make temporary designations in case of the absence or inability to act of any Justice in the Appellate Division, or in case the Presiding Justice of any Appellate Division shall certify to him that one or more additional Justices are needed for the speedy disposition of the business before it. No Justice of the Appellate Division can exercise any of the powers of a Justice of the Supreme Court, other than those of a Justice out of court, and those pertaining to the Appellate Division, or to the hearing and decision of motions submitted by consent of counsel, but any such Justice, when not actually engaged in performing the duties of such appellate Justice in the department to which he is designated, may hold any term of the Supreme Court and exercise any of the powers of a Justice of the Supreme Court in any judicial district in any other department of the State. The terms of the Appellate Divisions are held respectively, in the first department in New York city; in the second department in Brooklyn; in the third department in Albany, and in the fourth department in Rochester, but terms may be held elsewhere in such departments, whenever in the discretion of the Justices public interest may require.

Each Appellate Division has power to appoint and remove a clerk and attendants.

The Appellate Divisions in the first and second departments severally have power to establish an Appellate Term of the Supreme Court to be held in and for its department, to be constituted of not less than three nor more than five Justices of the Supreme Court, who are designated from time to time by such Appellate Division and shall be residents of the department.

In each Appellate Term, no more than three Justices assigned shall sit in any case; two of such Justices constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of two is necessary to a decision. Such Appellate Terms have jurisdiction to hear and determine all appeals now or hereafter authorized by law to be taken to the Supreme Court or to the Appellate Division other than appeals from the Supreme Court, a Surrogate's Court, or the Court of General Sessions of the City of New York, as may from time to time be directed by the Appellate Division establishing such Appellate Term. The Appellate Term or the Appellate Division establishing it may allow an appeal from such Appellate Term to such Appellate Division, whenever in the opinion of either a question of law or fact is involved which ought to be reviewed.

The Supreme Court was originally established by an act of the colonial Legislature of May 6, 1691. It was recognized by the first State Constitution of 1777, not by being recreated, but by being merely continued. In 1847, under the Constitution of 1846, the Court was entirely reorganized. The equity jurisdiction, formerly vested in the Court of Chancery which was abolished at this time, devolved upon it. Appellate Terms, called General Terms, were established. In 1896, under the Constitution of 1894, further changes were made. The Superior Courts of New York and Buffalo, the Court of Common Pleas for the City and County of New York and the City Court of Brooklyn were abolished, and their proceedings and Judges were transferred to the Supreme Court. Appellate Divisions were substituted for the General Terms. Amendments to the Constitution in 1925 made other important changes, among which were definitely providing for Appellate Terms in the first and second departments and omitting the fixing of the salaries of the Justices by constitutional provision.
